TOLL NEARING 1,800 IN COLOMBIA BLAST

(See also Page 2.)

CALI, Colombia (AP)—Estimates of the dead in Cali's explosion went past the 1,000 mark today when Diario de Colombia, at Bogota, estimated the dead at 1,200 and La Republica of the same city said the toll might reach 1,800.

Marilyn's Diary

Shells Folks!
The days of this week are creeping along on lead-soled boots, the slow, teasing way they always do before a swim.

It seems only a few days ago that we arrived here to start training, but now, with swim day finally a fact instead of a plan, I'm sure this week will be a month long.

It is just like when I was a little girl, the week before Christmas was always unbearably long, just from anticipation.

Mom and Dad will arrive here Thursday night to help root me across but, unfortunately, I won't be able to meet them.

They will be arriving late Thursday night and I will be tucked away for the night, dreaming about Ediz Hook. However, I will see them in the early hours of Friday morning and they will be on one of the boats following the swim. Mom and Dad have never missed one of my big swims, no matter how far they have had to travel. I wouldn't want to swim without them.

You've heard of a card shark and a pool shark, who never lose when they are betting or gambling. Well, we have a swim shark in our midst, namely Maria Brenk.

Maria won a dollar bet from Cliff Lumsden yesterday when Cliff made the mistake of betting Maria she couldn't stay in the water at Oak Bay for an hour. Maria took Cliff's dollar gleefully. I made a similar bet with her once before but I haven't yet got around to eating my hatching cap as I am supposed to do.

Everyone around our camp is getting tense and looking for ways to let nervous energy.

Poor Phyllis Griffiths of the Telegram was the target for the night last night as the practical jokers went on a spree.

When Phyllis went to bed, her sheets were all crossed up, there was soap on her toothbrush, her pyjamas were knotted and there were ominous threats written in lipstick on her mirror, signed by The Black Hand.

Rebels Routed

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Loyal Ecuadorian troops have recaptured the rebel stronghold of Portoviejo without opposition, the government announced today.

STEVENSON STATEMENT WORRIES SOUTH

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today called for "unqualified approval" in the party's platform of the United States Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools. Dismayed Southerners hurriedly conferred and Governor James P. Coleman of Mississippi said "the whole nomination situation will have to be reappraised."

270 Trapped Half-Mile Down In Fire-Wrecked Coal Mine

MARILYN'S SIGHTS ON TARGET

SWIM OFFICIALS NAMED

Weather Outlook For Friday Good

By DENNY BOYD

Warm weather and northerly winds, a nearly perfect swimming combination, was the unofficial forecast today for Marilyn Bell's Juan de Fuca Strait swim Friday.

Weatherman Bill Mackie told the Times today, "We cannot make an accurate forecast more than 36 hours in advance. However, the forecast for Thursday is for northerly winds up to 15 miles an hour and for temperatures up to 75. The outlook for Friday is for a continuation of the same conditions."

If those conditions do hold over until Friday, it will be a tremendous boost for Marilyn in her attempt to become the first person in history to swim from Victoria to Port Angeles.

WIND AT BACK

It would put the brisk wind at Marilyn's back and would act as a "pusher" rather than a deterrent. The westerly winds that usually prevail over the Strait at this time of year have been the cause of failure in most of the recent swims.

Last-minute plans for the swim continued today with the swim officials being named.

Harold Elworthy, Island Tug

and Barge Co. president, will be the official starter for the swim and will fire a gun from the beach at Horseshoe Bay to signal the start of the swim.

Marilyn will travel in the Island Champion to a point outside Horseshoe Bay and will be brought in to the beach in a small boat.

Aboard the Sudbury, largest deep-sea tug on the coast, will be official observers Bruce Humber and Hector Crombie, secretary-manager of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and timers Viv Shoemaker and Ian Ross.

Mr. Shoemaker is secretary of the Victoria YMCA, while Mr. Ross is the owner of Butchart Gardens.

The observers will watch the swim to see that it is conducted under the rules of long-distance swimming while the timers will have stop-watches to record to

ANN MERAW IN LAKE TRY

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—A slight Vancouver housewife set out today on a swim which she hopes will take her 36 miles across Okanagan Lake to Kelowna.

Mrs. Ann Meraw, 36-year-old brunette, left here at 12:09 p.m. (PDT) while about 4,000 people looked on.

Climber Killed

BANFF, Alta. (BUP)—An Alberta man was killed and his companion injured in a mountain climbing accident Tuesday night near Banff.

The dead man has been identified as 23-year-old August Lenberger, who was from Taber and employed at the Chateau Lake Louise as a French polisher.

Sneak Raid Kills 9

ALGIERS (AP)—Algerian nationalist rebels shot up a truckload of French soldiers in an ambush 25 miles from here, killing nine of them, French sources reported today.

'Gentlemen Don't Shoot at Lady' Admiral Signals HMCS Ontario

Beauty before duty will be the order of the day for the Royal Canadian Navy Friday.

A long-planned practice "shoot" with live ammunition by the heavy armament of the cruiser Ontario, homeward bound after a naval cadet training cruise, will be cancelled to protect the Marilyn Bell swim.

Today Rear Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer, Pacific Coast, sent this signal to HMCS Ontario.

"There is a strong possibility that Miss Marilyn Bell will compete with you for honors in your firing area on Friday the 10th of August.

"She will be proceeding at a ladylike pace and wind and water may keep her foul of the range for some time.

CYPRUS TENSION HIGH ON EXECUTION EVE

NICOSIA (AP)—Three Greek Cypriot youths prayed in their prison cells during the final hours before they were to be hanged for anti-British terrorism.

"We are ready for the gallows," one of them told the prison priest. "Death does not frighten us."

They are scheduled to die at dawn Thursday. Four hundred Greek Cypriots detained under the emergency regulations were pledged to stage a 24-hour hunger strike today as a protest against the executions.

Security forces took special precautions in Nicosia. Cypriots were banned from using cars, motorcycles or bicycles in the capital.

Vancouver Okay On Sunday Sport Face Law Test

Surprise Action by Aldermen
Legalizes Pay-to-See Games

(CP DISPATCHES)
VANCOUVER—An official of the Lord's Day Alliance said today he will recommend prosecution of any person who promotes commercial Sunday sport in Vancouver.

Paratroops Earthbound Says General

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—A retired Canadian general said today Canada's army is 11 years behind in its equipment and has an airborne brigade but no aircraft to lift it.

Maj. Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former Canadian Army adjutant-general, said Canada's field army, comprising 1½ divisions, is still armed and equipped substantially on the 1945 model.

He said the army includes a mobile striking force in an airborne brigade but there are no aircraft to transport it.

Gen. Macklin was addressing the 25th Couchiching Conference, sponsored jointly by the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs and the CBC at nearby Geneva Park.

Gen. Macklin said: "I should like to point out that the army has waited patiently and impotently for 10 solid years for its transport and supply by air, while every resource of our entire aircraft industry has been devoted to designing and building jet interceptors and nothing else."

Despite "billions of dollars being spent on a strategic air force system, we remain wide open to total catastrophe if the deterrent fails to deter," he said.

Canada had hitched her defence wagon to a United States "thermonuclear star" and had left herself without any other military means of practical use.

The city prosecutor in turn applied to the attorney-general's department for a fiat to prosecute.

The four aldermen who pushed the by-law through over the objections of Mayor Hume and two dissenting aldermen said they were expressing the wishes of Vancouver residents who approved the move.

CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE
The Sunday sport issue has been tossed back and forth between Vancouver city council and the provincial government since last December's plebiscite. Neither body showed any inclination to implement the measure.

Mayor Hume made a number of trips to Victoria to meet Premier Bennett on the subject but without result. The premier stated at his press conference that he was personally opposed to commercial Sunday afternoon sport.

Government officials maintained Vancouver city council should have sought an amendment to the city's charter which would have approved Sunday sport.

At one time Premier Bennett indicated the government was considering holding a province-wide plebiscite on the issue.

Jack Sparkes, chairman of the Sunday sports committee, which led the drive for an affirmative vote in the plebiscite, said he was "very happy" about the council's action.

"I don't think the opposition group has anything to worry about," he said. "It's not going to interfere with the churches in any way."

One thing, there's nothin' underhand about swimmers now that crawl strokes are so popular.

Th' betin' is that Nasser'll blow up b'fore th' canal does.

M' Uncle Zeke's wife thought all this talk about risin' steel prices meant th' tourist rates were goin' up.

Weeping Women Mob Disaster Scene

MARCINELLE, Belgium (AP)—Rescuers this afternoon made the first breach through tons of concrete barring the way to freedom for an estimated 270 coal miners trapped nearly half a mile below ground at the Amercoeur coal mines here.

They brought to the surface three survivors and the bodies of three victims.

It was not immediately known how many more of the men could be quickly reached. They were reported trapped on different levels of the Casier du Bois pit, cut off by flames and choking fumes let loose earlier today when the mine's electrical system was short-circuited by a runaway coal wagon.

The breach was made after rescuers climbed down a pit shaft still under construction and blasted through six feet of concrete into one of the working shafts.

WATCH HELPLESSLY
At the pithead, word of the rescuers' advance brought hope to a tensely waiting crowd of weeping mothers, wives and sweethearts, who watched helplessly as stretchers and blankets were rushed into the disaster area.

One mine official said the trapped men included 139 Italians. Others believed to be shut in below ground are 115 Belgians and 16 of varying nationalities.

Roads leading to the pits were lined with black-helmeted state police, desperately trying to control the thick traffic stream heading out of Marcinelle to the disaster scene. Police also patrolled the mine gates where a crowd threatened to break in.

REPORTS TO QUEEN—Prime Minister Eden drove to Buckingham Palace this afternoon to report to the Queen on the Suez crisis, topic of a radio-television speech he was to make at London this afternoon. (CBU, Vancouver, will broadcast the Eden speech at 7.15 this evening, Victoria time.)

RAIN OF ASHES
First hint of the disaster for persons living nearby was the sudden descent of a black pall of ashes which rained down on cars and houses. Residents threw their windows open in inkly darkness fearing an underground explosion.

It was the worst accident at the pit since 1930, when 40 miners were killed in a fire. An official said the Ruhr Coal Association and the Dutch state mines had offered help.

One of the three survivors was brought up on a stretcher after the breach was made. He was rushed into a first aid station, a stretcher bearer yelling "il vit; il vit!" (he lives! he lives!)

All three were taken off in ambulances, the bells clanging raucously amid the moans of the grieving women at the mine gates.

"IT'S A MIRACLE!"
One rescuer told a reporter: "The miracle has happened. We have at least three men alive."

Another said: "It is hell down there. I was less than five metres (15½ feet) from a body but I could go no further because of the heat."

The Belgian coal administration in a statement said the fire started when an underground wagon broke loose and fell to the bottom of a pit, landing on an electric cable.

The resulting short circuit caused the blaze.

The fire spread, trapping 299 miners in the underground galleries. Twenty-five reached the surface by elevator before the blaze put it out of action.

A stalled underground railway car blocked another escape route.

The Belgian radio said in a special broadcast that the situation "could become the worst coal mine catastrophe of Belgium's history."

The world's worst recorded mine disaster killed 1,549 workers in a Manchurian coal mine in April, 1942. At Courrières, France, 1,060 died in a coal mine explosion in March, 1906.

North America's worst was at Monongah, W.Va., in December, 1907, when 361 were killed.

Make us to be laborers with each other alongside of God. Grant us the satisfaction of being usable and used of Thee; through Jesus Christ.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has every hope the Suez Canal crisis will be settled by peaceful means.

Eisenhower told a press conference he cannot conceive of military force bringing a good solution in the tense situation under present circumstances.

TOPS IN TEENS

8 Years Out From Denmark . . . Beats Language Handicap

Hanne Jensen spent three weeks in Grade 1, a month in Grade 2 and three days in Grade 8. She passed eight grades here in three years, which is exactly how long it took the young Danish teenager, now in college, to become proficient in English.

Hanne arrived from Denmark with her family in 1948. She spoke Danish and French fluently, and English not at all. Yet she learned quickly enough to enter Grade 9 at Victoria High School with her own age group.

Hanne

A sophomore at Victoria College, Hanne is spending her summer months training as a fighter control operator with the RCAF.

RTTP—Reserve Tradesman Training Plan—is a "preview" course offered by the air force to men and women, age 18 and over. They drill and attend lectures for two months, earning $161 a month, and if the life agrees with them may join the air force at the end of the training period.

AW2 Jensen, air woman second class—comparable to a private in the army and "lowest of the low," she says—will not forge a career in the RCAF. "The training was "very interesting" but she intends to continue university, majoring in French, then become a professor.

To English, Danish and French, Hanne has added four years high school Spanish and a year of college German. At the end of her freshman year here, she won the Quito Nichols scholarship for top marks in French.

Hanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Jensen, 3791 Saanich Road.

German Girl Tells Story Of Mass Rape

the 10th of a second the time of the swim.

While the multitude of details was being wrapped up today by swim officials, the scene at the Old Charming Inn, Marilyn's swim camp, was one of quiet preparation.

Marilyn went for only a short swim this morning and returned to her hotel to rest this afternoon. She was anxious to do some shopping for a warm coat for her father, who will arrive Thursday night with Mrs. Bell to accompany their famous daughter on her big test.

Marilyn admitted to being nervous and a little tense but said, "The swim occupies all my thoughts and that is a good sign."

Coach Gus Ryder, who helped Marilyn prepare her food and feeding equipment, to be carried on the coaching boat, was reluctant to talk about the swim today.

He said, "This is the biggest one yet. I guess it's got us all a little jumpy."

WUERZBURG, Germany (AP)—A 15-year-old German schoolgirl, testifying in tears that she was a victim of mass rape a month ago, today identified two American soldiers as participants.

The men, Pte. James Gordon, 23, and Pte. Fred R. Chandler, 21, are among seven Negro soldiers on trial in the case.

Blonde Erika Loos' voice quivered at times and tears streamed down her face as she appeared as a prosecution witness before a general court martial.

The girl said she was raped five times in a period of about 15 minutes while her German boy friend was restrained.

The seven soldiers are charged with raping her last July 9 in a woods near Bamberg, where they are stationed. The incident set off a wave of German protests against American soldiers.

Mr. Speaker's Estimates May Cause Delay

House Otherwise Rises at Weekend

By VICTOR MACKIE

Times' Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—On its way to establishing the record as the longest session of parliament in Canada's history, the present session raced through the controversial advertising tax legislation Tuesday thereby clearing the way for possible prorogation Saturday.

A sure sign that the session is drawing to a close is the token resistance now being put up by the official opposition to items that earlier in the session would have produced week-long debates.

All members are now convinced that they will be free to go home by the weekend. By Saturday they will have been in session for 150 sitting days. Previously the second longest session in Canadian history was in 1907-08 when the House sat for 148 days. The 1955 session lasted 140 sitting days.

The speed-up towards prorogation is now apparent on all sides in the Parliament Building. Members are packing their files into the wooden boxes they use to cart them back to their home constituencies.

Only possibility that might delay prorogation until next week is the discussion on Mr. Speaker Rene Beaudin's estimates. If Mr. Speaker should insist on reviving the issue of his rulings during the pipeline debate, it could trigger a full-scale debate that would last several days. It is expected members of the government will urge upon him the need for restraint in the interests of prorogation.

Acid Burns Eyes Of Man Trapped In Wrecked Car

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J. (AP)—

Russell Hill, 34, suffered severe burns of both eyes Tuesday when acid from a jeep battery dripped on his face after he was pinned under the overturned vehicle. Some nearby workmen pulled him from under the jeep after he had been pinned for about five minutes. He also suffered second-degree burns of the neck, chin and chest.

Political Sabotage Charged In Blast; Death Toll at 700

CALI, Columbia (AP)—The death count climbed today toward 1,000 from an explosion of seven dynamite-laden trucks that ripped through the heart of this South American city.

Latest unofficial estimates put the total dead at about 700. But many others among the hundreds of injured were not expected to live, and rescue workers digging through the shattered blast area continued to uncover additional victims.

President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla blamed political sabotage for the Tuesday morning explosion which virtually leveled an eight-block area and was felt for 20 miles. He promised that the guilty parties would be found.

The seven trucks had been parked for the night in a densely-populated area of slums, warehouses, hotels, stores and factories in the centre of this city of about 285,000 persons. They were damaged extensively by the blast. Large-scale relief operations were in full swing today. Earth-moving machinery worked around the clock, shifting huge piles of debris in a search for additional bodies. Burial of the victims, hampered by an acute shortage of coffins, was an urgent task in this tropical climate. Military

Buildings as far as 12 blocks from the blast centre were

Immigration Boost Urged by Opposition

(From Times News Services)

Several opposition members called Tuesday for a greater inflow of immigrants as the House dealt with the annual spending estimates of Immigration Minister Pickersgill's department.

Other legislation advanced through various stages, and there remained few items to be dealt with before the expected prorogation Saturday night or early next week.

Color Prejudice Charged by Winch

During the debate on immigration Harold Winch (CCF—Vancouver East) said he sometimes thinks "there must be a color prejudice somewhere" in the department.

Mr. Winch said he cannot understand why there should be discrimination against Canadian citizens of East Indian origin. He was referring to attempts by East Indian immigrants to obtain permission to bring near relatives, such as mothers, to Canada.

Mr. Winch said most East Indians in Canada, all of whom originally were British subjects and now are Canadian citizens, came from the Punjab. They should be treated on the same basis as other British subjects in the bringing of relatives to live with them in Canada.

There was something wrong with the attitude of the immigration department in its outright refusal to allow a childless East Indian in Vancouver to bring a nephew to Canada as his adopted son, so he could pass on his prosperous business. This person, a Canadian citizen, had lived in Canada for 48 years.

Department Policy Blasted by Fulton

Davie Fulton (PC—Kamloops) said Canada is not getting as many immigrants as it should because the immigration department is not aggressive and realistic enough.

He said "shocking" immigration department practices, particularly in deportation procedures, tend to discourage persons from emigrating to Canada.

Mr. Pickersgill retorted that opposition speeches about unemployment in Canada a few years ago did more to get back

FOOTBALL—OR FISH?

The gesture of captain Vitali Artemiev of the Moscow Lokomotiv soccer team could mean he is talking either about football or fishing with Canada's Fisheries Minister Sinclair. Looking on are team manager Alexander Lanskin (left) and coach Boris Arkadiev. The team won its first game 9-0 against a Quebec all-star team, play in Winnipeg tonight and in Vancouver Saturday.

IF PROVINCES SAY 'OK'

House Gives Indians Right to Buy Liquor

OTTAWA (CP)—A contentious government measure which gives the way for Indians to buy liquor in provincial government stores was given final approval, 118 to 30, in the Commons today.

The bill was supported by Liberal, CCF and Social Credit parties, and opposed by the Progressive Conservatives plus G. H. Castleden (CCF—Yorkton) and J. H. Harrison (L—Meadow Lake). The bill now goes to the Senate.

On Tuesday the Liberal majority beat off opposition attempts to change the multi-clause bill brought in by Citizenship Minister J. W. Pickersgill.

The most controversial provision revolved around the government proposal to let Indians be customers at government liquor stores.

Mr. Pickersgill said it would be an invasion of provincial rights for the federal government to qualify Indians for liquor-buying without the consent of the governments that administer liquor laws.

Saskatchewan Liberal J. H. Harrison suggested a go-slow policy in opening up spirits to the Indians on the ground it makes them more rambunctious than whites. Mr. Pickersgill disagreed.

WEIRD COCOCTIONS

William Hamilton (PC—Montreal—Notre Dame de Grace), an amateur historian, told the Commons that in the early days of the west the Indians liked to drink something that burned—and old

Commons Enacts U.S. Magazine Tax

20% Levy on Gross Ad Revenues Imposed on 'Canadian Editions'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Tuesday night gave final approval without a recorded vote to a government bill to tax special Canadian editions of foreign magazines.

The legislation, which earlier in the session had been expected to produce a lengthy debate, went through all stages of passage in just two hours and 15 minutes. It now goes to the Senate.

The only vote taken was when the bill was in committee. By a standing vote the House voted 76 to 25 to approve the magazine taxing provision, part of a catch-all bill amending the Excise Tax Act.

The section was opposed by the Progressive Conservatives and two CCF members, Fred S. Zaplitzky, Dauphin, and Owen L. Jones, Okanaga Boundary.

Except for two minor amendments, the bill, opposed vigorously by United States publishers, is identical to a resolution proposed by Finance Minister Harris in his March 20 budget speech.

One is intended to block a loophole in the working of the resolution which might enable evasion of the tax. The other would exempt from the tax foreign magazines of a medical or religious nature.

During debate on the resolution, Hon. W. Earl Rowe, acting opposition leader, described the tax as "dishonest." He said it will not serve the purpose for which it is intended—to protect Canadian magazines against foreign competition.

ATTACKS TAX

The proposed tax was described by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton) as discriminatory, arbitrary and a form of government interference with the magazine business.

The tax was discriminatory in that it would apply effectively only to about nine United States publications.

The government's avowed purpose was to help Canadian periodicals. But there was no proof that the growth of U.S. periodicals had hurt Canadian magazines and Mr. Harris was "just asking the House to swallow an assumption."

In his reply, Mr. Harris said the tax was imposed because the production cost of special Canadian editions of foreign magazines was considerably lower than that of Canadian publications.

Despite an increase in circulation and advertising, Mr. Harris said, Canadian magazines lost money last year.

VIGOROUS PROTESTS

Introduction of the legislation followed months of uncertainty about whether the government actually would proceed with the new tax. Representatives of American publishers have had especially to religious or medical purposes." A department official said the bill makes clear that if the Canadian edition includes material from, say, two or three editions of the parent magazine it will be liable to the tax. In his budget speech, Mr. Harris said the long-run future of Canadian magazines "appears to be in jeopardy" from foreign periodicals. Increasing inroads by these outside periodicals in both circulation and advertising sales had resulted in a number of Canadian magazines being abandoned and others reducing the number of issues.

Liberal Senators Hit Bill on Cables

The House Tuesday gave final approval to a bill changing the name of Personal Finance Co. of Canada to Beneficial Finance Co. of Canada.

CCF members, several of whom had objected to the connotation the company's new name would have at earlier stages of the bill's passage, allowed approval of the measure on division. This is a technical way of registering disapproval without calling for a vote.

HMCS Venture Turns Out First Class of Midshipmen Aug. 18

The first class to graduate from HMCS Venture, the RCN junior officer training establishment at HMC Dockyard, will do so Thursday, Aug. 16, after a two-year training period.

Among those to witness the graduation ceremony will be Vice-Admiral H. G. DeWolf, chief of naval staff, and Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, flag officer, Pacific Coast.

On the day previous, academic awards will be presented by Admiral DeWolf during a garden party at the home of Admiral Pullen.

At the graduation ceremonies the cadets will give marching and physical training displays. During the program the cadets will leave the field in their cadet uniforms, retire to the Naden wardroom, where they will change into their new midshipmen's uniforms and then return to parade as the first class of midshipmen to graduate from HMCS Venture.

The same evening, the midshipmen's ball will be held in the wardroom of HMCS Naden, and following this the graduating cadets will proceed on leave before rejoining the fleet for further training.

Executive branch midshipmen will proceed to HMCS Stadacona in the Atlantic Command for further professional training ashore. Engineering and supply branch cadets will join various ships of the Pacific and Atlantic Command for shipboard training. Executive air midshipmen

The Sommers Case

THE GRAVE CHARGES against Mr. Robert Sommers, former minister of mines and forests, are now before the courts or, as the lawyers say, are sub judice. In these circumstances any comment on those charges, on the motives behind them or the character of the accusers is forbidden by the rules of the courts.

Yet Mr. Sommers recently has made a public speech in his constituency reflecting on those who have questioned his integrity. How the courts will regard this extraordinary action we do not know. But to a layman nothing could be more in contempt of court. Mr. Sommers has been discussing a legal suit long before it can reach a jury, while his accusers are remaining properly silent and while the newspapers are forbidden to comment on an urgent matter of public business.

The long-delayed trial in court, the public confusion and now Mr. Sommers' unwise comments all result from the Government's original mistakes.

As soon as one of its members was charged with certain offenses the Government should have established a royal commission able to explore this entire matter without partisanship and without the restrictions surrounding a libel and slander suit.

Instead, it refused at first to consider the charges made by Mr. David Sturdy, brushing them off as incon-sequential and intended only to influence a current by-election. Then it stood by, inactive and silent, while Mr. Sommers resigned his portfolio and filed suit against Mr. Sturdy. And finally it ordered its police to study the questions raised by Mr. Sturdy, the attorney-general thus investigating the affairs of a former colleague after pronouncing him innocent. (What the police have discovered the public does not know and, apparently, may never know.)

As a result, a matter of the most serious public concern, affecting the integrity of the Government, is confined to the narrow limits of a lawsuit, the lawsuit begun months ago will not be tried until the autumn or winter and now Mr. Sommers—the last man who should ever mention it—has been introducing the case into a political speech as part of his campaign for reelection to the Legislature.

Worst of all, the Government obviously is preparing for an early election and, if this seems like a good idea at the time, will ask the people to vote before they have heard any evidence in the Sommers case, before a jury can consider it or the courts pronounce upon it.

For the Government's purposes this may be considered a skilful feat of timing and political management. From the standpoint of the electors it is becoming a travesty.

No State Lottery

CONTROVERSY WILL CONTINUE over several findings of the joint Senate-Commons committee studying lotteries.

On the basic principle that this method of gambling should not be an important means of raising national revenue there should be no argument. The economic health and fibre of a nation is weak if it has to depend on this means of paying for the services it provides.

Nor is the lottery a source of vital income where it is permitted. "In countries holding state lotteries," the committee reports, "the revenue derived . . . is generally very small in comparison to the total government expenditure."

If that statement requires support, it may be found in the analyses made at different times of the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes. The Irish sweeps supply a very limited amount of money to the hospitals, give a ticket-holder an extremely meagre run for his money and absorb a substantial amount of collections in administration.

Apart from moral issues involved, lotteries are not the rich revenue sources they are sometimes painted. They are unstable—fluctuating with conditions—and, in cases where they are held to assist worthwhile institutions, they frequently dry up other sources of revenue.

But if the committee is on firm and unquestionable ground in its attitude to state lotteries, it is confronted by certain anomalies and some situations in which the element of risk plays its part. The public, for instance, may gamble under specific conditions on horse-racing.

The committee, moreover, shows an appreciation for the human inclination to take a chance in suggesting permissible limits for bingo and like activities under certain auspices. What those limits should be may be disputed. But the fundamental case that this country should not engage in gambling as an accepted major means of raising national revenue will not be seriously challenged.

Back From the Grave

PERHAPS IT TAKES A RUSSIAN mind to appreciate fully the current Soviet practice of restoring heretofore officially dead persons to official life. Their physical death is not affected; the earth will see them no more. But their identity in the history books is restored.

Luckless persons who transgressed the communist code, or who had the code changed on them and suddenly found themselves quite innocently supporting out-of-fashion ideological beliefs, are being posthumously accepted once more as worthy of human recognition.

Latest to undergo this Kremlin-blessed resurrection, The New York Times points out, are Vsevolod Meyerhold, once one of the Soviet's brightest theatrical stars, and Isaac Babel, once a top Russian writer. Both fell out of favor with the regime of their time. Both were spiritually banished, in that their names were never mentioned, their works were removed from all public contact. They became in effect men who had never existed—the living dead of George Orwell's "1984".

Similarly treated were Hungary's Premier Laszlo Rajk, and the Soviet Politburo member, Nikolai Voznesensky. Both dead now, they nevertheless have achieved a sort of rebirth by being restored to official Kremlin approval, their heresies not only pardoned but declared never to have occurred.

There are others receiving this posthumous recognition. For their surviving relatives, this may be important. It may mean, for instance, that they can begin to eat regularly again. But the departed, if indeed their shades are looking on, could probably not care less. They will know how hollow is such an arbitrary honor—and, in view of past experience of communist methods, how short-lived it could prove.

Another Inducement to Humbug

SOME MONTHS AGO EARL Alexander of Tunis, an athlete in his own right during his youth, suggested that the Olympic Games be broadened to permit open competition between amateurs and professionals.

The proposal gains strength from the remarkable new oath prepared for participants in the Melbourne Games. It states: "I, the undersigned, declare on my honor that I am and intend to remain an amateur and fulfill the conditions stipulated in the Olympic rules."

The oath, it is explained, seeks to prevent contestants from using the Olympic Games as a springboard to professional sport.

How binding would it be and what purpose would it serve?

Canadians will remember Barbara Ann Scott's declared intention, some years ago, to remain an amateur, and the set of circumstances which put her on the ice extravaganza trail taken earlier by Sonja Henie.

Old-time swimmers will recall the transfer of Olympic stars Johnny Weismuller and "Buster" Crabbe from amateur supremacy to lucrative moving picture jobs, based originally on their aquatic prowess.

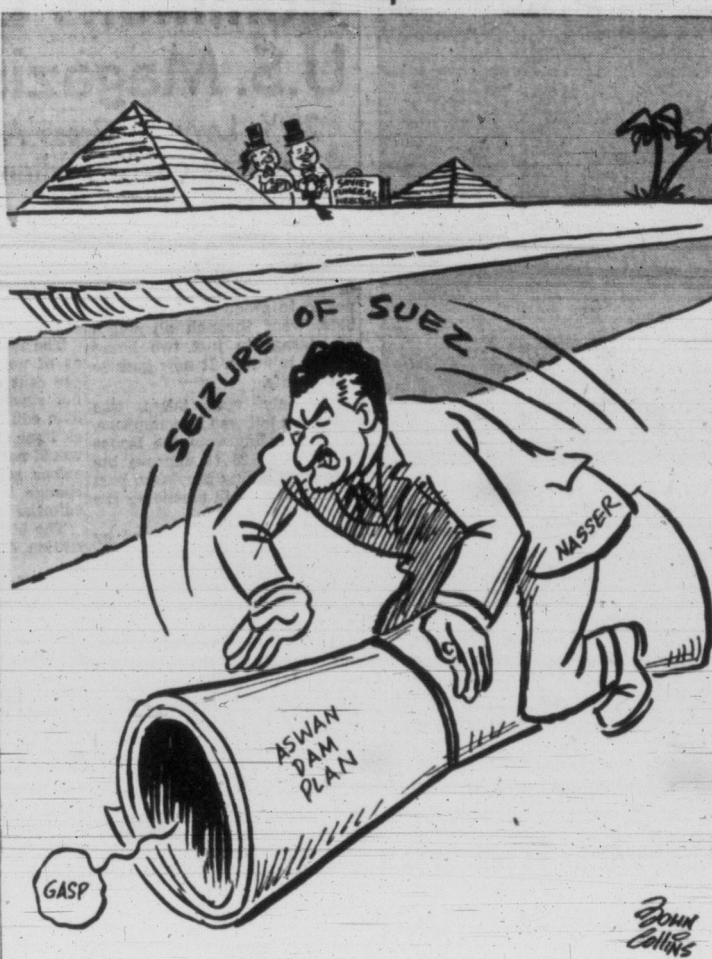

A dozen top-notch divers have moved from Olympic performance to professional exhibitions and, in doing so, have improved and encouraged diving.

Parallels are legion. Why, then, set up another obstacle in the path to integrity and fair-dealing for men and women who have unique physical talents, who honestly aspire to Olympic honors and later just as honestly capitalize on their abilities?

Is good, clean sport fostered by these enforced obligations? Or are they merely technicalities which will inspire new subterfuges and double-dealing?

Let's take another look at Lord Alexander's proposal. It could strip off a lot of humbug and serve the Olympic ideal a great deal better than the new oath.

Artificial Respiration

AS I WAS SAYING

By B. A. TOBIN

A Word to the Wise

ACTIONS speak louder than words, as the old saying has it. But silence can mean a lot more than either of them. Some of the most eloquent remarks I ever made were with my mouth shut. Nature left our ears permanently open no doubt figuring that what we hear doesn't matter much.

But she put a good sound-proof lid on our voices, in the belief that there would be lots of times when they ought to be turned off. The waspish woman who always has something nasty to say about her neighbors may get listeners, but she soon finds her friends leaving her. In effect, she uses her tongue to wave goodbye.

When you think of all the millions and billions of words that are used by human beings daily, and how little most of them really mean, it's enough to leave you speechless.

Take Your Choice

It's when the meanings begin to double up that the fun begins. You may remember that story about the East Indian house servant who was given a letter of recommendation when his English employer left for "home." He hadn't been much of a servant, but the letter sounded fine and, he couldn't understand why nobody would give him a job.

It read: "The bearer of this note has served me during the last two years to his complete satisfaction. If you are thinking of giving him a berth, be sure to make it a wide one."

Sometimes it isn't on purpose. Everybody has met one of those Gracie Allen characters who could be charged with treason for their use of the Queen's English.

She'll tell you how she went to a movie to see "From Here to Extremity" and sat behind a man who was as thin as a billiard cue. Afterwards when she got in her car and stepped on the accelerator she found somebody had thrown a monkey ranch into the works. She had to go home on a B.C. Elected bus, but treated the incident with the content it deserved. It goes on and on.

Doppel Tuck

A little different is the made-up double talk that had a vogue a while ago. Fellows who wanted to produce sound without meaning would rave on about the barstow of the transmittal being tellerlate. The listener was so busy trying to make the syllables into sense that he never did catch up.

But all these methods are nothing beside the efforts of a good, accomplished platform stuffer. A platform stuffer is one who can speak indefinitely on any subject under the sun, yet never say anything that you can get hold of.

He can reply to a simple question in two thousand words or more and never get near to an answer. His words are all pure English. His sentences are grammatical. His paragraphs follow one another logically. Yet taken all together his whole address adds up to nothing.

He has successfully clouded every meaning, hidden every intention, answered every criticism, and convinced everybody of something. But nobody knows quite what. The speech is a success.

It isn't necessary to give any illustrations of this type of speaking. With federal and provincial elections on the way there will soon be plenty of examples.

And then, of course, there is what might be called wife-talk. It's a special kind of communication that every husband can recognize, though it may take years of practice to understand it.

It seems to consist of key words that are tossed into the conversation to suggest things to the listener. But they suggest different things to different people.

Housewives, of course, understand each other perfectly. But husbands, although they may think they understand their wives, would be slow to claim that they understand wife-talk. It goes something like this:

Wife: "I saw Mr. Smith downtown today. SHE has been in hospital."

Clear as Mud

The key lies in the words that are left out. Any wife hearing Mr. Smith mentioned would naturally disregard him entirely and think only of Mrs. Smith, as being the important part of the family. And, naturally, thinking of Mrs. Smith, the next reference, to SHE (with that emphasis women put on certain words) would fall sensibly into place.

In the same general category are such wifely remarks as: "Ruth's engaged. I'll need a new hat." Or, "The Jones' have a new baby girl so I'll have lunch in town."

It's like reading the first and last sentences of a novel and having to live in the rest from your imagination. It's lucky the average husband's imagination has no bounds.

MARKED for READING

WORDS AND ACTIONS

If Savonarola only tells the ladies of Florence that they ought to tear off their jewels and finery and sacrifice them to God, they offer him a cardinal's hat, and praise him as a saint; but if he induces them to actually do it, they burn him as a public nuisance.

—GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

As Our Readers See It

Funds and Hospital Beds

Premier Bennett has boasted consistently of his "pay-as-you-go" policy.

However, a few weeks ago, he flew to New York and borrowed $400,000. The interest on this amount will be a heavy tax on the people of B.C. If the exchange rate is in favor of U.S. when it is repayable, it will be an even higher charge.

In turning out some newspaper cuttings recently, I came across one from the News-Herald in which Mr. Bennett stated he would abolish the sales tax. Has he done so? No, instead it has been increased from three to five per cent, yet the province of Ontario has no sales tax, and Mr. Bennett is always boasting what a rich province B.C. is.

Since 1948, the people of B.C. have been compelled to pay premiums for free hospitalization, and since April 1, 1954, they were abolished, and the sales tax increased to five per cent instead.

To people living in Vancouver, North Vancouver, Burnaby and New Westminster, it is a well-known fact that when they require an operation, they have to wait often as much as four weeks before their doctor can secure a bed. This throws a nervous strain on the patient, and in many cases causes great physical suffering and financial worry.

I had the following experience in my family in May. The patient was rushed to Vancouver General Hospital emergency ward in the morning. The diagnosis was cerebral hemorrhage, which required nursing care in bed. Our M.D. was unable to secure a medical bed either at St. Paul's or V.G.H. Is this honorable, in view of the fact that we are compelled to pay for hospitalization?

I had no choice, therefore, but to move the patient to a ward in a private hospital at $8.50 per day, plus medicines, which otherwise are free—and $10 for ambulance.

D. S. ASHDOWN.

Silenus and Divorce

July 28, your Saturday columnist, Silenus, certainly made a succinct plea for divorce law reform in Canada. "Beastly law of divorce," "misery and mud through which decent people must wade in order to achieve the dissolution of a marriage intolerable to them and their children," "in consequence, public opinion on the side of reform is scattered and disorganized."

These are only a few quotes from his article, which should make it clear to those who, so far, have been uninterested, how necessary it is to expose whatever and wheresoever possible the forces which oppose a proper reform, those who force a couple to stay together in misery, in the main the clergy and their henchmen.

That those forces, even after the main legal objections are overcome, try to keep their tentacles on the victim is plain enough from what the Duchess of Windsor—Wallis Simpson—says in her Friday, Aug. 3, installment of "My Side of the Story": "We would faithfully play our roles in the bitter legal farce until the six months' interval of waiting should run its course."

There are other countries—my own, Holland, for one—where decent people don't submit to such an outrage. Organize, attack must be the watchwords for those whose conscience urges them to help to get the victims out of the clutches of those Dark Ages' meddlers.

F. H. STAVERMAN.

Langford Lake.

'Power Corrupts'

Do the correspondents who shower Social Credit with vilification ever stop to consider that it is precisely such practices that induce the general public to treat those attacks with contempt?

The Canadian people are usually better served by their political leaders of all stripes than they have a right to expect. In the eyes of the public a politician only becomes a statesman after he is dead. While he is alive he is fair game for every disgruntled partisan, who wants to see his own creed back in office.

Those who aspire to sit in the driver's seat had better take time out to consider why political changes do take place and what causes the average man to take his political parties by the neck at times and throw them into the outer darkness. The reasons for these changes may not be on the surface but they exist. Sitting down like a spoiled brat and howling to high-heaven will not regain the respect of the rank and file.

It has been said that a government starts to die the moment it achieves office; also that "power corrupts". However, at present the man in the street is willing to give the government in office time to prove its case. Those who look fondly back to the days when the party held the levers of power would be better employed in analysing the causes of their fall than shrieking abuse at their successors.

Likes Smile

We of Victoria have allowed the tourist to seek out and acclaim one of our own most entertaining summer attractions, The Jerry Gosley Smile Show, currently running at the Langham Court Theatre. Not enough has been said in praise of this appealing and quite professional presentation in the field of variety.

When it is realized that this modest, serious, and gifted producer has persevered through the "cultural doldrums"—that hold Victoria fiercely in thrall—to the point where a six-week run of the Smile Show appears to be a sell-out, one knows, with a certain optimism, that Victoria has begun to recognize something of her very own that is wholesome, hilarious and satisfying in entertainment.

Confidence in the Camp

BY JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

(Editor's Note: Joseph Alsop went to New York to cover Adlai Stevenson's recent raid into Harriman territory. Meanwhile, Stewart Alsop was in Chicago talking convention strategy with the Stevenson high command. Here are their combined reports.)

NEW YORK—Adlai E. Stevenson has just bustled in and out of this city exuding confidence at every pore. He got $75,000 in contributions to his campaign fund at a small private dinner. He cocked a dignified, reproving snoot at Gov. Averell Harriman. He even consulted close friends about a speech he is already drafting—the speech accepting the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Democratic nomination is just about taken for granted, in fact, by Stevenson and his immediate entourage. The withdrawal of Sen. Estes Kefauver and the developing swing to Stevenson in some important favorite-son delegations are thought, with good reason, to have left very little doubt about the outcome at Chicago. The problems of the ensuing campaign against President Eisenhower are now the dominant topic.

It must be added that the Stevenson who is now arguing with his aides about the best way to handle the farm problem and civil rights issue seems a very different man from the Stevenson of last spring who treated primary fights as almost vulgar and still insisted that the nomination must seek him.

He has not exactly acquired gusto for political rough and tumble. But the change is still marked.

Ready to Fight

It rather resembles the change in the kind of schoolboy who begins by disliking fights heartily; then learns that self-defence is an unfortunate necessity in this harsh world; and finally ends by becoming pretty good at it.

In Stevenson's case this means, for instance, that he now tells you, almost with an air of discovery, that high level literary essays are not the most effective form of American political oratory.

It means, too, that he is ready for a pork chops campaign, without undue emphasis on the rarefied issues of foreign policy and world problems.

Above all, it means that Stevenson is ready (although perhaps not eager) to wage a classical bush-whacking, whistle-stopping campaign, getting out on the road almost the day the conventions end, and not abandoning the vote-hunt until voting time comes. The contrast with President Eisenhower, waging his campaign with six television speeches, will be sharp indeed. And a bush-whacking, whistle-stopping Stevenson could turn out to be a rather formidable campaigner.

CHICAGO—Since the withdrawal of Sen. Kefauver, Adlai Stevenson's convention strategists are no longer fearful of Averell Harriman's threat to split the convention on the civil rights issue with an assent from President Truman. They think they have the votes, both in the platform committee and on the convention floor, for a strong but not inflammatory civil rights plank. They think, too, that Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, Sen. Herbert Lehman, and Sen. Hubert Humphrey are civil rights allies fully worthy of Truman's steel.

The Stevenson strategists are now talking, in fact, of a decisive win on the left ballot; and they are going for it. But the really big, though still tentative news of Stevenson's convention plans is a scheme to allow an open floor fight for the vice-presidency after Stevenson has been safely nominated.

If the south were demanding a place on the ticket this year, a floor fight might be thought undesirable. But in fact the only serious contenders are Sen. Humphrey, Sen. Kefauver and Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Each has his important advantages. Kefauver has his personal following and strong farm support, too, and is ideally equipped to tangle with Vice-President Richard Nixon. And Kennedy is a highly attractive figure who can be counted on to reverse the Republican trend among the Catholics.

Partly, the Stevenson strategists are inclined to permit an open floor fight between these three candidates, for the very good reason that choosing among them is decidedly difficult. Partly, too, the idea of a free fight for the vice-presidency attracts the Stevenson strategists because it will give so much added interest and excitement to the convention drama. But, above all, it is held that this kind of open struggle for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination will powerfully emphasize the important but difficult issue of " Ike's health and Dick Nixon."

Altogether, the arguments for the scheme seem very strong. It will almost certainly be adopted if his advisers can only overcome Adlai Stevenson's lingering resistance to taking even a one-in-three chance of getting Estes Kefauver as his running mate. The scars left in the primaries are healing, but they are healing slowly. (1956, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

Advice About Advice

LONDON—Billy Butlin, Britain's holiday camp millionaire who formerly worked for Eaton's in Toronto, has been giving some advice about advice. He says that the best bit he got was early in life from his father.

"When I left school in Toronto there were plenty of jobs going," he says. "You could take your pick. But my father said to me:

"Don't take the job that pays the most money. Take the job you think you'll enjoy doing most, for if you want to be a success you have got to work hard and you can't work hard at a job you don't like doing."

Most of us, as we're growing up, get advice. If we're lucky, it's good advice. And if we're wise, we take it. A thing my mother said often, when I was a youngster, was: "The person who says he wants to do a certain thing and doesn't, never really wanted to." I've tried to follow that tip throughout my life and I've found that it pretty well always works out. What it is in other words is—"Take the plunge." How often one hears a person say he could achieve this, that and the other thing if only there wasn't something that held him back. He might say he could have come over to London and become a great actor if only he hadn't married young and got involved with the expense of children, etc. Or "I could write a terrific novel if only I had the time." Or he might say he could run a wonderful restaurant or some such business if only he had the capital.

Each could be an actor, a writer of novels or a restaurateur if he really wanted to be. Nobody who firmly decided he wanted to be an actor was ever held back by the immediate worry of having to provide for a family. If you sincerely want to write novels you make time (far into the night) and if you're burning to run a top-notch restaurant and have confidence in yourself you'll go out and get somebody to back you.

People who have the "if only" approach to life deceive only themselves. Jealous of those who achieve success they try to cover up their own lack of drive and their being scared to take the plunge by enumerating the barriers that fate put between them and what they claim is their goal. I'm thankful for my mother's advice to have wholehearted crack at something I feel I want to do—or shut up about it.

Along the way I got another good piece of advice, this time from Toronto's Jack Kent Cooke, and it's a good one to remember in business dealings. "Never think for the other fellow." How often at work you hear someone say things like this: "There's no point in approaching So-and-So with this proposition, he wouldn't be interested." Cooke's way is to go ahead and approach the person—and he may surprise you by being interested. I followed this bit of advice recently when I sent a book manuscript to a publisher although I was convinced in my mind that it was not the type of thing he published. And he surprised me, very pleasantly.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Chimps Differ in Character

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

If one listens to a certain group of psychiatrists, one must believe that all unpleasant traits of character and tendencies to psychosis are due to psychic injuries in childhood. According to this group, there is no such thing as heredity. Much against this idea is, of course, the fact well-known to all sensible laymen, that persons are born with different temperaments and abilities.

Any intelligent mother knows that these temperaments and abilities are obvious by the time the child is a year or two old. All persons who have bred dogs or cats know the big differences in the intelligence and temperament of their animals. All those at the great Yerkes laboratory of primate biology at Orange Park, Florida, know that chimpanzees and other apes differ greatly in physical appearance, intelligence, habits, sexuality, and even social graces.

As Dr. Henry W. Nissen reported recently in the American Anthropologist, among the 50 chimpanzees in the Yerkes laboratories, all brought up under the same conditions, some show neurotic tendencies while others do not. Some are thumb-suckers and rockers-back-and-forth, while others are not. Dr. Nissen tells of two half-sister chimps, Jenny and JoJo, who were born within two months of each other. They were raised together and they now share the same cage. What interests Dr. Nissen is that JoJo has a remarkable talent for using tools, which Jenny entirely lacks. With the help of a stick Jenny can turn on and off light switches, and she can even unscrew a light bulb. None of the other animals have ever done anything quite like this, although they have watched JoJo at work.

Jenny has the advantage over JoJo in that she has more social intelligence. She knows when it is wise to compromise or to give in.

All men who work in the zoos know that some animals are good-natured and tame, while others are ill-tempered and even dangerous. Some show a great deal of affection and devotion to a keeper, while others do not. As I said a while ago in a column, I once had a pedigree cat with whom I could not make friends. She was evil-tempered and untrustworthy, and was always sinking her claws into my hands. I gave her away and got another cat who for the rest of her life was my devoted and affectionate friend. Practically always, when I studied or wrote, Judy was sitting in my lap, purring away happily.

If animals can be so different—psychotic and irritable without sexual traumas in infancy—why cannot we human beings be a bit odd at times without having suffered an Oedipus complex?

OUTLOOK AFTER HEART ATTACK

Recently, Dr. Morris M. Weiss, of Louisville, Ky., reported that a third of the patients who recover from a heart attack live for at least ten years more. Of 211 patients who survived for at least two months after an acute myocardial infarction (the plugging of a small blood vessel in the heart) 60 per cent were alive at the end of five years, and 36.5 per cent were alive ten years later. Of the deaths during the first ten years 88 per cent were due to further changes in the blood vessels in the heart.

Dr. Weiss' statistics indicate that a man who has his heart attack before he is 40 has a 62.5 per cent of surviving for ten years. Naturally, the man who has trouble after he is 70 is not so likely to be alive after ten years; he has a big chance of dying of old age, but even his chances are not too discouraging.

THE NEW PSYCHIATRY

Under the auspices of the Section of the Biology of the New York Academy of Sciences, a meeting was recently held in which Dr. Jose N. R. Delgado of Yale University, described some of his remarkable experiments. After anesthetizing an animal—often a monkey—the doctor drills a tiny hole through the skull. Through this is passed a fine insulated wire which goes down into some part of the brain which the doctor wants to study. He can then either record the minute electric currents that are being formed in this area, or he can stimulate the area gently with a weak electric current.

For the benefit of antivivisectionists I will say that the tissue of the brain has no sensation, and hence the operation and the presence of the wire do not bother the monkey. This operation has been performed many times on men who did not feel pain because of it.

One of the things Dr. Delgado does is to give the animal or the man a series of either the new tranquilizing or the brain-stimulating drugs. Then, by studying the electroencephalograms obtained through the wire before and after treatment, he can get some idea as to how the drugs act. This helps chemists to make new and better drugs.

MAN'S LEGS CUT OFF; SIGHT KILLS RAILMAN

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man lost both legs when run over by a CNR freight train here early today. A fireman who found him on the tracks suffered a heart attack and died.

About 30 cars ran over John Smith, no fixed address, when he fell beneath the moving train. He was later reported in satisfactory condition in hospital.

Marshall Reilly, 41, a fireman for the Great Northern Railroad, died of a heart attack when he found Mr. Smith on the tracks. A fire department inhalator squad failed to revive the fireman.

'Specialist' Flower Growers Do Well

Most gardeners develop a preference for one particular kind of flower as the years go by, and thus it is that specialist flower societies and groups are born.

Each group is likely to claim it specializes in the Queen of Flowers—but the title may designate the rose, chrysanthemum, iris, begonia, gladiolus or daylily.

Victoria is in the enviable position of being able to cultivate all of these flowers. There are organized groups specializing in some of them, staging annually public shows.

This week it is the Victoria Gladiolus Society which will dazzle the beholder with the sheer impact of color. The gladiolus is shown in specimen classes with-out foliage, and the ranks of bloom thus displayed create a solid, tangible effect of color.

In contrast to this will be the artistic arrangement classes using not only the giant spikes but the smaller, daintier varieties known as miniatures. These blooms may be ruffled, waved and even multi-talented, and are much less formal than the rigid spikes usually seen in our gardens.

The show is being held at the Crystal Garden on Friday and Saturday of this week, and to many it may well be a revelation to view the variety in form and color.

Specimen classes will be named so that notebook and pencil will be in order as at all flower shows.

In addition there will be a staging of blooms by the Victoria Begonia Society, so different in form to the gladiolus that neither will lose by association in the same show.

St. Ann's Sisters Avowed in Ceremony

Msgr. Joseph Charbonneau, former archbishop of Montreal, said low mass in the chapel of St. Ann's Academy here this week when six sisters of St. Ann took final vows and two sisters took first vows.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. Richard Griffin, Vancouver.

Sister Mary Lynne (Rose Teterault of Terrace) and Sister Mary Marjorie (Patricia Donovan of Cloverdale) took first vows.

Taking final vows, after three years in sisterhood, were Sister Mary Joseph (Mary Ellen King of Winnipeg), Sister Mary Christina (Margaret Anderson of Virden, Man.), Sister Mary Maureen Theresa (Marion Noon of Victoria), Sister Mary Celine (Lorraine Lamarre of Sapperton), Sister Mary Donna (Donna McIntyre, Vancouver) and Sister Mary Christel (Margaret Pearce of Victoria).

Boy, 3, Brought Back From Death Fails to Survive

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—Bob Brayshaw, 3, whose heart stopped beating for eight minutes Monday and had to be restarted with massage, died Tuesday. The boy's heart stopped in what doctors called a "one in a million" cardiac arrest as a reaction to anesthesia during a tonsillectomy. The boy's chest was opened and the heart massaged for about five minutes. He never regained consciousness, however.

Two to Stand Trial For Real Estate Fraud

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two men were charged here with conspiracy and with defrauding a Vancouver man of $3,500 in a real estate deal. A third man is sought in connection with the charges.

John Cependa, 33, of Port Moody, B.C., and Michael Chellis, 38, of Vancouver, were remanded eight days on bail of $7,500 and $4,000 respectively. Also sought is Peter Burlock.

Mark Albertson was allegedly defrauded of $3,500 between Jan. 16 and Feb. 10.

Cependa was also charged with attempting to defraud Myro Krepcakevich of $3,950.

SOCRED SEEKS ISLAND SEAT

Parker Won't Run In Peace River Again

Charles Parker, Social Credit MLA for Peace River, said Tuesday he will only stand for re-election if he is nominated in a Greater Victoria or Vancouver Island constituency.

"I shall not be running in the Peace River area again," he said, "but I will run somewhere here or on the Island if given the opportunity."

A former minister at Dawson Creek, Mr. Parker gave up his church a year ago because he could not devote his full time to it. He recently moved to Vancouver Island because of his wife's health.

His present constituency of Peace River covers an area of 61,500 square miles. He was first elected to the legislature in 1952 and re-elected in the general election of 1953.

Prior to the next election, expected soon, the Peace River will be divided into two ridings. Former Finance Minister Einar Gunderson and Mrs. Margaret Murray, publisher of the Alaska Highway News at Fort St. John, have been mentioned as possible candidates to carry the Social Credit flag in the two Peace River ridings.

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

CAYCUSE—WHO KNOWS ANYTHING ABOUT CARDING wool, shoeing a horse, thatching a roof? These once commonplace chores are now specialized occupations catering to a dwindling demand. Progress has obliterated the need for such skills, but the lost art of letter-writing can never be superseded by more modern methods of communication.

When transportation was difficult and telephones were for emergency use only, the art of letter-writing flourished. Today it is an almost obsolete accomplishment, and friendships that once overcame the barriers of distance through the writing and receiving of warm and loving letters very often perish from the lack of that sincere form of contact. Friends who move away are treated to perfunctory notes, perhaps once or twice a year.

Cora receives a letter from Emmy. "What's new?" her husband asks.

"She doesn't say. They're okay, I guess."

The letter runs as follows:

"Meant to write before this but the weather's been foul and we haven't done much. Junior had measles. Henry was sick too. If we get to see you this summer (which I doubt) remind me to tell you all about Mrs. S.—you'll get a kick out of it. Must close, will try and write more next time."

THUS CORA HAS NO INFORMATION ON EMMY; she is left guessing as to what was wrong with Henry, and may wonder forever what gives with Mrs. S. Emmy is well aware of her inadequacy, hence the apology. . . "will try and write more next time." For the time being her conscience is eased.

A good friendship warrants better treatment, for it is worth holding to. Don't let mental laziness and the pressure of daily living create an unbridgeable chasm between you and those whom you value. Distance can be spanned so easily, and the strong feeling of unity between families sustained through the medium of pen and ink properly applied.

THE LITTLE THINGS THAT INTERESTED YOUR friend when she lived next door still have the same meaning. She doesn't want brilliant wit or a stilted composition in English, or to be tantalized by a brief note that resembles nothing better than a glorified wire. She wants to know that you're the same as ever. So pick up your pen and pretend that you've just dropped in for a cup of coffee. TALK your letter and you'll be surprised at how much you have to say, how smoothly it flows along, and how much enjoyment you get from writing it. When she reads it she will feel that she has had a visit from you and her reply will be natural and spontaneous.

Try it right away—today. Believe me, it pays heartening dividends.

Uncontrolled Fire On Redonda Island

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—A fire, three bulldozers, and a 30-mile-an-hour wind was blowing out of control late Tuesday on Redonda Island, 19 miles east of here, but to restrict the flames. The fire was understood to be level on the mountainous island, camp operated by Girodays Log was being fought by 40 men and ging Co.

PARKSVILLE (CP)—Fire destroyed the Trolley Diner near here Tuesday.

Qualicum's Dr. Cooke Dies at 78

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. A. E. Cooke, 78, founder of the first church-owned radio station in Canada and first president of the People's Prohibition Association, died at his home here Tuesday.

Dr. Cooke was a minister of Qualicum United Church from 1930 till he came to Vancouver June 1, to retire.

Dr. Cooke, born in Belfast, Ireland, went to Manitoba College in Winnipeg as a Presbyterian student in 1901. He came to B.C. in 1912, taking charge of the Kitsilano Congregational Church.

Three years later he was named minister of the First Church here. During his eight years with the church he led the ministerial association in a campaign credited with defeating the provincial government in 1916.

Dr. Cooke organized station CFKC which later merged with CKWX.

From 1923 to 1935 he was appointed to churches in the United States. In 1936 he was called to St. John's United Church here where he remained for 15 years.

Autoist Accused Of Manslaughter

PARKSVILLE (CP)—Frederick Peter Potapov, of Nanaimo, was charged Tuesday with manslaughter following a fatal traffic accident on the Alberni Highway, near here, July 22.

He was released on $5,000 bail pending a preliminary hearing next Tuesday in Parksville Police Court.

Potapov was charged following the death of Edward, William Martin, of Port Alberni.

Magistrate Thomas Hadfield also fined accused $20 and $5 costs for exceeding the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit the evening before the fatal accident.

Utility Firms Deserve Fair Profit—Angus

The Public Utilities Commission believes that a utility company should get enough to give a reasonable return on its investment, Dr. H. F. Angus, PUC chairman, told the Kitsilano Club of Victoria Tuesday.

"One of our functions is to see that utilities profits are adequate and charges fair," he said. "Another is to grant approval for new utility construction. Creation of new enterprises and extension of existing ones require approval from the commission."

In the rate-regulating phase of its work, Dr. Angus continued, the PUC tries to fix prices to suit buyer and seller alike "and that is almost impossible."

If the commission receives an application for a change in rates, it can hold a public hearing if it thinks it to be in the public interest.

"If the PUC makes a mistake in law, any interested party can go to a court of appeal. If it makes a policy mistake, a decision out of tune with the general wishes of the community—an appeal can be made to the cabinet."

Subject to these provisions, the commission is independent, Dr. Angus said.

$1 A MILE OVER SPEED LIMIT DRAWS $27 FINE

NANAIMO (CP)—The second man in police court to fall under Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts' new ruling, which allows a man five miles an hour latitude over the speed limit, then a charge of a dollar per mile over this, found himself paying $27 Tuesday. Odello Tovani was clocked at 82 miles an hour racing for a ferry.

Make your own comparisons and discover how you can save on your total food bill at Safeway

Every week you see food ads shouting low prices. Each store claims that its prices are lowest and advertises a few items to support the claim.

But you can't judge food savings on advertised "specials" alone. They represent only a small percentage of the hundreds of items you buy over a period of time. Savings on "specials" mean little if you pay higher prices on other food purchases.

It's on the "seldom-advertised" items where differences really show up.

That's why Safeway says: Compare ALL prices. When you do, you'll discover your total food bill is much lower at Safeway.

In making your comparisons, differences in prices may seem small item by item, but remember—it's the total that counts.

Here is Chart to Follow Reports on Marilyn Bell Swim

HOW TO USE THE GRID

The area covering the various courses swimmers may use in attempting Juan de Fuca Strait has been gridded in rectangles. These rectangles measure, according to scale, two nautical miles deep (north-south) and two and seven-tenths miles wide (east-west).

In reading Times news reports or following CKDA broadcast reports, you can pinpoint approximately where a swimmer is by the chart references.

It should be noted that the distance of 18.3 miles between Beacon Hill Park and Ediz Hook, marked on the chart, is in land miles, and does not therefore conform directly to the grid pattern.

Only the main tide rips have been shown. There are others at various points.

To date there have been more than 50 attempts to swim the Strait. The successful effort by Bert Thomas of Tacoma on July 7-8, 1955, began in square G-11 and finished in G-3. He had four tries previously.

Florence Chadwick, who started the modern swim craze in August, 1954, went from H-3 to G-6.

Other notable attempts and where they finished: Amy Hiland (1st) G-4 (from Port Angeles); (2nd) F-4 (from Port Angeles); Ben Laughren (4th) F-7 (from Victoria); Ben Laughren (8th attempt) H-8 (from Victoria); Bill Muir (7th attempt) E-10 (from Victoria); Pat Russell (2nd) G-4 (from Port Angeles); Ann Burian (3rd) H-9 (from Victoria).

If you plot these finishes on the chart it will give you a comparison for future swim attempts.

It should be noted that at its narrowest point the Strait is barely 10 miles across. The original conception of the swim, however, was that the landing or takeoff should be from the corporate limits of Esquimalt, Victoria or Oak Bay on the north side, and six miles either side of Ediz Hook on the Port Angeles side.

(Extra copies of this chart may be obtained from the Times through the Victoria Press office, 2631 Douglas, or at the downtown office on Broad Street, or at radio station CKDA.)

56 Tries at Strait Since First Attempt in 1933

Since Florence Chadwick came could top Bert's feat with a successful swim from Victoria to Port Angeles, the first official attempt to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca, that 18 watery miles between Victoria and Port Angeles has become a wet and windy Yates and Douglas.

Including the first-known attempt back in 1933, when three men, Stan Witty, of Victoria; Roland Tegmeier, of Tacoma, and Paul Chotteau, of Paris, were hauled out of the numbing water, blue and shivering with the cold, there have been 56 attempts, and only one of them has met with success.

On July 7, 1955, big Bert Thomas, of Tacoma, a former Marine, with service ribbons from Pacific action, waded into the water off Ediz Hook in front of Port Angeles on his fifth try at the Strait.

Eleven hours, 17 minutes later, Thomas picked his way carefully through an off-shore kelp bed, lowered his head in the water and churped up a wake as he went into a victory sprint that carried him the last 50 yards of his successful swim.

Thomas touched Saxe Point in Esquimalt at 6 a.m. on the morning of July 8 to meet civic and nation-wide fame.

Since Thomas' victory, swim followers in Victoria have awaited the arrival of a swimmer who

THE ONLY PERSON IN history to defeat the Strait of Juan de Fuca, Bert Thomas, a former Marine frogman and logger, turned the trick in July, 1954. Thomas was foiled four times before he hit the kind of swimming conditions every challenger dreams of. Swimming a south-north course, Thomas left Ediz Hook and arrived at Victoria's Saxe Point in 11 hours 17 minutes.

After an extensive training period, Miss Chadwick made her bid in the cold light of dawn, August 9. She lasted only five hours, 11 minutes, completed seven miles of the 18-mile swim and left Victoria soon after for other commitments.

But that swim started it and the list of attempts as of today numbers 56. They run the gamut from Ben Laughren's 12-hour, 36-minute marathon last month to Vancouverite Johnny Flower's 35-minute try and John Geisse's 40-minute dip, from which he emerged in a state of deep shock.

Two people, Bill Muir, of Victoria, and Amy Hiland, of Long Beach, Calif., have come within a mile and a half of their intended targets, only to meet failure and heartbreak.

On July 8 of this year, Muir, the breast-stroking Saanich surveyor, swam to within a mile and a half of the American shore before he ran into an off-shore tide that prevented him from reaching the beach.

Five days later, Mrs. Hiland, coming the opposite way, was within a mile and a half of Victoria before exhaustion swallowed her and she was removed from the water in a shocked, semi-conscious condition.

RYDER STRONG BOOSTER FOR CANADIANISM

If Gus Ryder could be granted one wish, it is likely that the white-haired swim coach would ask only that he be remembered as a good Canadian.

Canadian pride is almost an obsession with the justly famous coach of Marilyn Bell and Cliff Lumsdon and, when fame has come his way, Gus has tried to channel it to Canada.

Rather than hear "Marilyn Bell and Gus Ryder beat the English Channel," Gus would rather it be known that "two Canadians beat the English Channel."

While some Canadian sports look to the United States to import athletic talent, Gus stoutly maintains, "Given proper opportunity, Canadians can equal the best that can be done anywhere in the world today."

If Marilyn is successful in swimming from Victoria to Port Angeles on Friday, it will be a double triumph for Ryder. It will make Marilyn the first girl to succeed in the swim but, more important to Ryder, it will establish Marilyn as the first Canadian to swim the strait.

Marilyn, Gus Ryder Say Strait Offers Greatest Challenge Yet

BY DENNY BOYD

Marilyn Bell and her famous coach, Gus Ryder, openly admit that in the Strait of Juan de Fuca, they face the gravest challenge they have ever met.

But they don't add that they have made a habit of overcoming seemingly insurmountable obstacles.

The unassuming girl from Toronto and her dedicated coach have marked up a record in the past two years that defies matching by any of the great swimmers of any decade.

At the age of 16, when most girls are thinking of boy friends and bebop, Marilyn won the extremely difficult Atlantic City swim, 26 miles of open water and varying temperatures that has forced strong, experienced male swimmers to quit.

SWIM BROUGHT FAME

That swim brought the names of Marilyn and Gus to a degree of nation-wide fame.

But their names burst like twin peacocks across the world just a matter of months later when Marilyn, swimming while all of Canada watched and waited, completed the Lake Ontario swim—the first person to conquer the gruelling distance.

For 20 hours and 56 minutes

Marilyn fought the lake, surrounded by boats, she was nevertheless all alone in her battle.

WHEN MARILYN BELL makes her first attempt to swim Juan de Fuca Strait Friday, she will be helped along by the comforting presence of coach Gus Ryder. In all of Marilyn's great swims, Gus has shared equal billing and rates as Canada's No. 1 swimming coach.

Coach Ryder estimates that Marilyn swam 42 miles to complete the 32 mile swim.

Marilyn gives full credit for her success in that swim to Ryder.

She says, "If Gus hadn't been there, I would never have completed that swim. He kept me going when I thought I couldn't do it. He was never mean or cruel. He just reminded me that I wasn't swimming for myself; I was swimming for Canada."

A fact that isn't too well known is that, near the end of the swim, Gus told me to come out of the water. I was tired and cold but, worst of all, I had let my imagination run away from me and I was getting scared and all mixed up. I told Gus that I couldn't go on; that I wanted to quit. He reached out his hand to me and said, 'all right, Marilyn, come on in.'

THE NEEDED BOOST

"Hearing him telling me to quit came as such a shock to me that I forgot everything else. I snapped, 'No' at him and swam away from the boat as fast as I could. Without knowing it at the time, Gus had given me the boost I needed to complete the swim."

An avalanche of fame and one of the greatest swimmers adulation swept the bewildered in history.

girl up in its thundering wake. So great were the demands upon Canada's new number one celebrity that she has said there were times when she regretted ever having made the swim.

But, when things settled back to their proper perspective, Marilyn looked around for new water fields to conquer.

The choice was obvious—the English Channel—which Marilyn calls, "part of every swimmer's apprenticeship."

CLOSE TO RECORD

When Marilyn swam the Channel on July 31, 1955, it was not just another Channel swim. She became the youngest person in history to make the swim and missed a record crossing by the margin of a contrary tide that held her up two miles off her target for two hours.

Marilyn started her swim from Cape Gris Nez on the French seacoast and swam to the Dover cliffs at Abbotscott in 14 hours, 36 minutes. With a new record within reach, she ran into a westerly current that added two hours to her time and stole her chance of further fame.

On Friday, Marilyn will go after the brightest jewel of all for her crown—the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Never conquered by a woman as fast as I could, and never beaten by anyone swimming from Victoria to Port Angeles, the route that has been chosen, the grim, foreboding strait awaits the challenge of adulation swept the bewildered in history.

Lists of Boys Named for Trip With Navy in Times Monday

Lists of one-day crewmen who will sail on a Navy Day cruise aboard ships of the RCN will be published in The Times on Monday, Aug. 13.

Boys who have applied for the cruise, or who plan to apply (they must hurry, complements are almost complete), will find their names listed under the name of the ship they will join.

Sailors-For-A-Day must fall in at Ogden Point Other Wharf at 11:30 a.m. Aug. 15 with their own lunches.

Any boy, aged 10 to 16, who has not yet applied should clip the accompanying coupon. Name, age, address and signatures of a parent and a sailor of the RCN (stop any sailor on the street if necessary) must be filled in, and the coupon then mailed or delivered, addressed, to Sailor-For-A-Day, c/o Victoria Daily Times, 2631 Douglas Street, Victoria.

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

Bounding down boxla boulevard, and why not let the beef trust have its say.

Some (three to be exact) have complained that last week staffer Bill Rayner was too hard on the Shamrocks when the Irish got bombed 19-12 by Nanaimo Timbermen at Memorial Arena.

As one reader commented: it was "a vain attempt to gain prestige . . . by scornful ridicule of the Rocks."

When the Irish fans certainly love their Irish and Bill is in the bad books, we suppose.

And even though coach Whitey Severson of the Irish feels too that Bill's remarks were awfully severe, Whitey inadvertently might have touched off Bill's "bitter barbs" when he commented after that game in question: "I'm disgusted."

Which Whitey still says he was, even including himself in the general castigation ("disgusted") of the team. "I was lousy myself," he said . . . "but I didn't mean the kids to be hurt," he added of the rookies on the club.

When confronted with this evidence yesterday, Bill remarked: "Specifically I said it was the defence which let them down, not the rookies."

At any rate, the Rocks certainly called the turn on Bill's dare Monday night in their come-from-behind victory over Vancouver Pilseiners, and the defence, which a week before, Bill said, had been lacking, was a predominant factor in the triumph. Their names to complete the record, and give dues where due, are Bill Bamford, Jack Thompson, Al Davies and Lew Landess.

Jake Makes His Point Clear

Now enter Jake Proctor, coach of the Vancouver Pilseiners.

Jake too has a complaint. It was in the recent game at New Westminster between the Pils and Salmonbellies. Doug McRory heavily boarded Bill Barbour of the Pils. Barbour came up fighting, and McRory proved a willing foe. When the dust had died, the game officials waved off Barbour for two penalties, one for boarding and the other for fighting, and McRory, for one, fighting.

Jake protested from his position as bench coach that the verdict should have been the other way, McRory being the instigator by his boarding of Barbour. The officials in question refused to listen to Jake's requests.

"I was abusive, sure," says Jake. "and I think I had a right to be; but I never swore, and the officials will admit that."

"I protested again at the intermission which followed closely on the penalties and, during the rest period, the commission (Inter-city Lacrosse League commission) reversed the referees' ruling and gave McRory the extra penalty."

"During the ruckus, I was humbled from the bench and subsequently handed a suspension."

"My point is this. I was right in my protest. The referees had erred, as proved by the fact that the commission reversed their decision. But still I get a suspension. Why? If the commission saw fit to reverse the referees' verdict, and it was because of the same play that I was suspended, it should follow that my suspension should also be rescinded. But was it? No."

"I've given 15 years to the game," added Jake. "but this one is over my head. I was right, was proved right, and still get suspended."

That's Jake's case as he presented it.

This One Was Peculiar, Too

Which brings to mind a peculiar call in Wednesday's game between the Irish and Pilseiners.

A Pilseiner player had possession of the ball, was knocked down, lost the ball and Jack Thompson of the Irish scooped it up.

At that precise moment referee Ernie Smith blew his whistle stopping the play with Thompson in the clear.

The fact that the official stopped the play doesn't bother us, but the fact that he allowed the play to continue an appreciable length of time until Thompson got the ball, does. If the play was dead, it should have been called immediately. We trust the commission has been informed of this peculiarity.

Want to Win $1,000? It's Easy; Here's How

A purse of $1,000 awaits the person rash enough to step into the ring at Memorial arena Tuesday night and stay active for 20 minutes.

Dick Hutton, who takes on both Don Kindred and Lou Pitosis in weekly professional wrestling show, will pay that price to any man who can stay that long with him in the ring without being pinned.

When Hutton is through demolishing the local males, the mighty midgits, Tom Thumb and Tiny Tim will appear in the other main event, while preceding all will be a special event pitting Angelo Martino against Byron Czichos.

Curtain goes up at 8.30.

Saanich Greens Triumph

Saanich Greens continued to mop up the opposition in the Greater Victoria Minor Lacrosse League as they trampled Saanich Tigers 11-2 in a seven-point division game at Stevenson park on Tuesday.

John Mossey's four goals weren't enough for Fernwood as Oak Bay trimmed them 8-5, in the other pee-wee game.

Saanich Farmers, paced by Don Munroe's six-goal effort, bested Fernwood 13-4, on Monday at Stevenson park in the diaper division, while Saanich Butler Bros. came out on the short end of a 6-5 score against the Nanaimo Juveniles on Sunday.

Scorers follow:
Greens—Gary Louden 3, Wayne Brown 3, Barry Linton, Bruce Pollard, Bill Duckworth, Ted Hansen, Bill Collett. Total—11.
Tigers—Bill Jones, Jim Burnett. Total—2.

Oak Bay—Bruce Clark 3, Phil Wade 3, Glen Vickers, Ron Mercer, Total—8.
Fernwood—John Mossey 4, Joe Thompson. Total—5.

Campbell-Ashford Bowling Champs

Tom Campbell and Art Ashford of Burnside bested H. Gahan and Tom Owen of Beacon Hill on Tuesday 17-15 to win the Wilkerson Shield, emblematic of men's doubles supremacy in the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association for the second successive year.

SPAT TOWARDS SPECTATORS

Williams Tagged With $5,000 Fine

BOSTON (AP)—Ted Williams—the stormy 37-year-old slugger who aims for batting records—was fined a record $5,000 Tuesday by Boston Red Sox for his contemptuous spitting gestures.

General manager Joe Cronin imposed the fine on his $100,000-a-year star after Williams spat toward the huge Fenway Park crowd following a fielding error and a redeeming catch against New York Yankees.

The only other $5,000 fine in the majors was levied against the great Babe Ruth of the Yankees by his manager, Miller Huggins, in 1925. The Bambino failed to show up two days for games in St. Louis and appeared late the third day.

Williams spat several times earlier this season—once in the presence of commissioner Ford Frick.

In addition to the spitting episode, Ted threw his bat 40 feet in the air after drawing a bases-loaded walk in the last of the 11th inning that spelled a 10 Boston victory over New York. Ted apparently was displaying contempt for the crowd and the pitcher, reliever Tommy Byrne, who

LINDA'S THE BEST

Top-seeded Linda Vail of Oakland is the one to beat in the women's singles of the B.C. tennis championships under way at VLTBC. Just 18, Linda lost out in the Canadian women's final last week. (Times photo.)

Linda Pretty Reason Men Take to Tennis

By BILL RAYNER

Miss Linda Vail is one of those blonde, lithe sun-goddesses that are so indigent to tennis courts about the land. The type that prompt mere males to take up the game with more than the customary gusto.

Just 18, Linda is first-ranked in the women's singles of the B.C. Tennis Championships currently underway at Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club.

She was first ranked at the Canadian Championships last concluded at Vancouver, too, but was upset in the final by Jean Laird of Modesto, Calif.

"I should never have lost that one," pouted Linda prettily out at the VLTBC Tuesday while waiting for her opening doubles match. She is teamed with second-seeded Sandra Veenboer of Pasadena in the women's doubles.

Linda plays her first singles match of the tournament today.

Being top-seeded in these tournaments doesn't bother the Oakland, Calif., miss too much. It's all tennis to her.

Down in California, according to Linda, where some of the best tennis players in the world are, she is ranked nowhere near the top. But no matter the calibre of her competition, she still enjoys the game.

Of course, she is pretty good at it, herself. Playing tennis seriously since she was 11, Linda was seventh-ranked in the junior women's seedings in the U.S. last year, and has won the Northern California women's title this year, not to mention being finalist in the Canadian event.

She is also National Junior Hardcourts doubles champ along with Audrey Arnold of San Francisco.

Linda won the junior title in the B.C. championships here in Victoria two years ago, so is no stranger to the city. This year, however, she has graduated to the women's open events exclusively because she is no longer eligible for junior competition.

Linda started off in fine fashion, Tuesday along with Miss Veenboer by defeating Mary Green and Jean Bardsley of Vancouver 7-5, 6-3.

In the men's singles Tuesday, top-seeded Paul Willey defeated Bill Hodgdon, Novato, Calif., 6-1, 6-2, and third-seeded Bill Rose defeated Victoria's Warren Cameron, 6-1, 6-2.

While Miss Vail and Miss Veenboer were idle in the women's singles, third-seeded Cathy Struthers, Berkeley, advanced with a 6-8, 7-5, 7-5, victory over Mary Green in one of the best matches of the day.

Today's draw:

6:00 p.m.—Miss Whitaker and Smith vs. Miss Brisk and Morill. Miss Green and Beale vs. Miss Loock and Vail.

6:30 p.m.—Miss Vail and Vickery vs. Miss Lovatt and Seymour. Miss Cameron and MacInnis vs. Miss Stephens and Kinin. Miss George and MacInnis vs. Miss Miller and R. C. Miller vs. R. C. Miller vs. R. C. Miller.

TED NOT SORRY, WOULD SPIT AGAIN

BOSTON (UP)—Ted Williams, so angry over a record-equaling $5,000 fine for misconduct that he threatened to repeat his spitting gestures again, declared today, "I'm not a damn bit sorry for what I did."

"I'd spit again on the same people who booed me," he said in his hotel suite.

Williams was quoted earlier by Cronin as saying "I was sorry the minute I did it—I can't explain the reason for it."

Arrows Thankful To Archie

Square Ball Series; Sluggert Stops Rally

Arrows 7, Chinese Students 5

If Arrows can keep swinging from the heels, and if veteran pitcher Archie Sluggert's arm holds out, Chinese Students are going to have a rough time advancing into the Victoria Senior A Men's Softball League final against Gorge Hotel.

Arrows unleashed their power Tuesday night at Central Park and squared the best-of-five semi-final at one game apiece by bombing Students, 7-5.

Arrows lost the opener Monday, 4-1.

While Stan Stewart and Whitey Turner hit homers and Tim Walker hit a triple, it was old Archie that turned the trick for Arrows.

After Bernie Sam had brought the score to 7-5 with a two-run double for Students, in the seventh, Archie, who went all the way in losing Monday, came in and retired the side safely.

He then retired six men in a row in the final two innings to preserve starter Don Lyons' victory.

Third game of the series goes tonight at 6.30 at Central Park.

Dave Price, Bud Ross, Alf and Walter Derr, Don Lyons, Archie Sluggert (1) and Whitey Turner.

'NOT SORRY,' SAYS BOSTON SLUGGER

Williams Tagged With $5,000 Fine

had robbed him of a chance to hit away.

Williams salivary attack on the spectators came as he returned to the dugout in the top of the 11th.

He misjudged Mickey Mantle's wind-blown fly to left field and dropped the ball for an error with two out in the frame. The overflow crowd of 36,350 thundered its boos in chorus. Williams then leaped against the scoreboard to catch Yogi Berra's drive to end the inning.

Cronin's action followed a telephone conversation with club owner Tom Yawkey in New York.

"Mr. Yawkey was listening to the game on the radio and was very upset by Ted's actions," Cronin said.

Earlier the umpires of the game said they planned to report the bat-throwing incident to American League, president Will Harridge.

On two previous occasions—the hitting of his 40th major-league homer, July 17, and the Cronin Hall of Fame night, July 20—Williams spat in the direction of the press box.

He boasted then "Nobody's going to make me stop spitting. The newspapers guys in this town are bush. And some of those fans are the worst in the world."

Newk Bears Major Mark

Dodger Ace Registers Third Straight Shutout

By The Associated Press

Big Don Newcombe is closing in on his second straight 20-victory season and is within reach of two shutout records while helping Brooklyn Dodgers keep the pressure on Milwaukee in the National League race.

Newk won his 17th of the season and eighth in a row by blanking Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0 Tuesday night. It was his third consecutive shutout.

The National League record for consecutive shutouts is four and it's been accomplished by only two modern-era pitchers—Bill Lee, with Chicago Cubs, in 1938, and Sal Maglie, now a Dodger, with New York Giants, in 1950.

The league record for consecutive scoreless innings is 46½, by Carl Hubbell, of the Giants, in 1933.

The victory kept the Dodgers within 1½ games of the Braves, who belted Chicago Cubs 6-1. Third-place Cincinnati fell three games back, losing to St. Louis 8-4. Philadelphia, hottest club in the league, made it five straight and nine out of 10 by sweeping the Giants 4-3 and 3-1 in a two-night doubleheader.

American League headlines centered on Ted Williams, fined $5,000 by Boston general manager Joe Cronin for another spitting skirmish, as the Red Sox clipped New York Yankees 1-0 in 11 innings on Ted's bases-loaded walk. Willard Nixon was the winner. The defeat seventh in eight games, trimmed New York's lead to seven games over Cleveland as the Indians broke a four-game slump with a 5-2 victory over Detroit. Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-4 and 4-3 in a pair of 10-inning contests in the only other action scheduled.

Newcombe, who has allowed only two runs and 25 hits in his last 45 innings, got all the support he needed, from Duke Snider, who tagged Vern Law for his 31st home run. It was the Duke's fifth in four games.

The Braves banged 11 of their 12 hits—including two singles that gave Hank Aaron a 24-game streak—off Jim Efrosman. Joe Adcock batted in two runs while southpaw Warren Spahn clipped in a homer in winning his 11th.

LAWRENCE VICTIM

St. Louis tripped the Redlegs and 15-game winner Brooks Lawrence, who now has lost four, Wally Moon had five straight hits, one a homer, for the Cards. Ed Bailey and Wally Post smacked two-run homers for an early 4-3 Cincinnati lead. Reliever Jim Konstanty was the winner.

O'DOUL OF THE MOUNTIES

PILS BOOST MARGIN

Trip 'Bellies; Irish Trail By Six Points

Vancouver Pilseers slowly hammered away at New Westminster Salmonbellies Tuesday night for a final 12-9 inter-city lacrosse victory and a stranglehold on second place.

They lead Victoria Shamrocks by six points, the Rocks having three games left to play and the Pilseers two.

A Pilseers victory or a Shamrock defeat will give Pilseers second place and the home-field advantage in the Inter-city Lacrosse League semi-final series opening Aug. 20. Winner of the best-of-five semi-finals will meet Nanaimo Timbermen in the best-of-seven final.

Pils led all the way against the 'Bellies. Their last two games of the season are both at home against Nanaimo next Tuesday and the Shamrocks a week Friday. The Rocks play Nanaimo Saturday night.

Three-Team L'il League Playoff Set

Odd Fellows, first-half champions of the National Little League, bested North Kiwanis, 9-6, at Little League Park on Tuesday to wind up in a second-half, first-place tie with Gyros, which was all right in itself.

But look what happened next. Rotary, scheduled to play North Kiwanis, found themselves the proud possessors of two points for a win when the Kiwanians defaulted, and those two points were just enough to put Rotary into first place also.

So, to determine the second-half champions, Odd Fellows meet the Gyros on Friday at 6:30, with the winner meeting Rotary on Sunday at 1:30.

In other minor baseball action Victoria Tri downed Pacific Sheet Furnaces, 12-11, at Windsor Park, to win the Art Cornish Memorial Trophy, and the Colt League played out of crown. Tremen led 12-1 in the fourth but were hard pressed to hold off the losers in the final innings.

In pre-game ceremonies, Dowells were presented with the George Gosmark Memorial Trophy by president Al Collier for winning the league championship.

Funseth Fires Hot Round

SEATTLE (AP)—Rod Funseth of Seattle led the field Tuesday in first-round play of the Washington state men's amateur golf tournament, with a thumping 7 and 6 win over Portland's Bob Norquist.

Funseth's card was eight under par at the time Norquist was eliminated.

Medalist Hal Jacobson, Longview, Wash., was eliminated by Paul Johnson, Seattle, 3 and 2, but most other top names kept in play.

Erv Parent, defending champion from Seattle, defeated Joe Mance, Seattle, 3 and 2; Harry Givan, Seattle, eliminated Everett's Dick Yost, 5 and 4, and Bob Inlandfeldt, Seattle, defeated Jack Johnson, Olympia.

KNOX MAY YET JOIN TI-CATS

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The step-father of Ronnie Knox was quoted today as saying the brilliant young American college tailback would sign for 1956 with Hamilton's football Tiger-Cats if given permission by his movie-industry employer.

The Vancouver Herald quoted Harvey Knox as saying that if permission could be obtained from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, his step-son would join the Tiger-Cats, members of Eastern Canada's big four football union. The younger Knox was reported to have a seven-year contract with the Hollywood motion-picture studio.

Tracy to Stay With Riders

DETROIT (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League Monday ruled out Detroit Lions' bid to sign halfback Tom Tracy of the Ottawa Rough Riders.

"We don't want war with Canada," he said.

Bell said that Tracy, a former Tennessee player who was raised in a Detroit suburb, must play with the Big Four club again this season under an option clause in his contract.

FOR REPORT THURSDAY

Vic West Probing Pollution Source

Source of pollution of the Gorge waters at Banfield Park may be seepage into a surface water drain, Charles Banfield said today.

Mr. Banfield, who will preside at a meeting of Victoria West residents at the community centre Thursday, says the city's preliminary investigation has led to the belief that waters running into the surface drain, installed last year, have become contaminated. "If this is so," said Mr. Banfield, "it should be relatively simple to locate the trouble."

In the meantime considerable work has been done in improving beach facilities.

A progress report on this aspect of improvement to the park will be made at Thursday's meeting, set for 8 p.m., and plans will be laid for future work.

At curtain time, only one sailor, John Pearson, had appeared at the special city-sponsored show for visiting seamen, and he was there because a member of the cast invited him. The show was cancelled.

Highway Cops Go Electronic, Radar Speed Check Works Well

By PETE MURRAY

Remember the days when the highway cop lurked on his motorcycle behind a roadside billboard, ready to dart after speeders?

Maybe you were trapped by one once. But not anymore—not since he's gone electronic. Speed over any of B.C.'s smooth new highways today and the odds are you'll be caught in the unerring eye of a radar beam.

Following the lead of a number of states in the U.S. and showing the way in Canada, B.C. is in the process of revolutionizing its methods of highway patrol.

The program of adopting radar speedometers in the province was started by the RCMP early last year.

Its record has been impressive. After the loss of one court case in Burnaby, the radar equipment has been upheld in all cases.

60 IN BAG

On a typical recent weekend, for instance, 60 speeders were caught by radar on Vancouver Island.

Authorities are quick to emphasize, however, that the objective is safety, not fines. "The primary aim is to save life," said C. E. Rivett-Carnac, assistant commissioner of RCMP in B.C. the radar program was launched.

"We are making a concerted effort on the traffic problem which we feel to be of very large-scale importance," said Assistant-Commissioner Rivett-Carnac.

Radar, often described as the greatest single invention to come out of the last war, will play the leading role in the campaign against speeders.

And in the future radar will do more than catch foot-heavy motorists. It will aid in gathering information on overall traffic control, showing up a need for widening a highway or putting in a new one; demonstrating peak traffic periods; and pointing out bottlenecks.

How does radar work? The highway unit used by the RCMP here comprises three compact pieces of equipment. Made in the U.S., each unit costs $1,500.

The basic unit is a foot-square metal box which stands on a tripod outside the police car and directs a high frequency beam at traffic on the highway.

The frequency at which these beams are reflected back to the box unit, which also houses an antenna, is translated electronically into the speed of the car.

This speed registers on a speedometer set up on the dash of the police car and at the same time is permanently recorded on a graph sheet. The graph is produced in court if the motorist contests the charge.

DRIVER GETS BENEFIT

Errors are few, and the motorist gets the benefit of the doubt in all cases.

A "tolerance" of two miles an hour is built right into the unit, so there are no hairline cases. On busy highways, if there is the least doubt in identification of the speeding car, no charge is laid.

The radar car is operated by two men. Generally the car is unmarked and the officers are in plainclothes.

A marked interceptor car is stationed a mile or so from the radar unit to pick up the speeders after receiving a radio report. In some U.S. states radar has been installed in one-man highway patrol cars.

The RCMP favors the stationary unit with an interceptor car because it avoids the dangerous high speed highway chase which often ends in a crash.

The use of radar also turns up other infractions than speeding. Drivers stopped by the interceptor car are checked for licences and evidence of drinking.

SLOWPOKES CHECKED

Slowpoke drivers who hold up long lines of cars also are picked out by the radar eye and stopped.

Public reaction to the use of radar to catch speeders at first was hesitant. A poll taken by a Vancouver newspaper last year showed 70 per cent approval but also disclosed some thought it was "sneaky," "unsporting," and "undemocratic."

Gradually acceptance has been won. Police have carefully avoided the phrase "speed trap" when using radar. Court magistrates now fully accept the new gadget and few motorists dispute a radar clocking.

At present the RCMP has 12 men stationed in various parts of the province specially trained in the use of radar.

4 CITY CHILDREN HURT IN SERIES OF MISHAPS

David McKechnie, 3, 3420 Veteran, is in good condition in Royal Jubilee hospital today with a broken leg suffered Tuesday when he was in collision with a car.

Saanich police identified the driver of the car as Bruce T. Rutherford, 1704 Knight.

Three other children were injured in separate accidents in Saanich Tuesday, all involving bicycles. Shirley Petney, 3378 Douglas; Carol Webb, 9, 171 Kamloops, and Robert Whittaker, 9, 3922 St. Peters road, all escaped serious injury when their bicycles collided with cars.

City Banks Desperate For Junior Workers

Great Opportunities Being Passed By Current High School Graduates

By PETE LOUDON

Victoria's 25 banks are desperately in need of boys to enter the profession as juniors.

According to a Times survey conducted today, 50 could start tomorrow.

Many more could be absorbed for branches elsewhere in the province, in Canada and even in foreign posts.

District managers of the five national banks in operation here agree there has never been a greater career opportunity in the banking business. The Bank of Commerce alone will retire 180 managers across Canada this year, creating an upward shuffle that will add to the gap now evident at the bottom.

The bankers say there has been a revolution in the business in recent years. Employee incomes have been boosted; job security improved and benefits are at an all-time high.

LOTS TO AIM AT

Salaries after three years for ambitious youths now hover between $3,000 and $3,600—comparable with most other business careers.

Jobs, commanding $10,000 to $15,000 a year are available to almost any youth with "stick-to-itiveness." Top men in banking are in the $50,000 to $75,000 class.

Then why the shortage?

R. O. Gunning, Toronto-Dominion Bank, and W. G. Chambers, manager of the main Imperial Bank here, feel some high school graduates take a short-term view. The bank starting salary is small compared to most laboring jobs; the boys overlook the fact increases come at the rate of $200 a year.

"Too many fathers worked in the old-style banks," says T. L. C. McMaster of the Bank of Nova Scotia. "They still think the working hours are in the standard of the '30s." J. C. Thow, Bank of Commerce, agrees.

C. A. Mudge, manager of the National Employment Office here, sees other reasons for the disinclination of boys to enter banking. First of all, he says it isn't disinclination so much as the fact that boys are scarce.

DEPRESSION BABIES

"These are the depression babies who are finishing high school now.

"They were born when incomes and birth rates were at their lowest. There is a greater demand in almost all fields than can be readily met."

Another reason is, more boys are going to college. If a boy has "anything on the ball" when he graduates he wants to obtain more formal education.

Many of their parents were denied college, as a result the parents are determined their boys will go. If they go, they find in engineering for instance, an insatiable demand for their

'Immoral Voting' Author Says Quebec Press Not Free

QUEBEC (CP)—Abbe Gerard Dion, director of the industrial relations department of Laval University, was quoted in an interview today as saying "we have no freedom of the press as it existed 25 years ago" in Quebec Province.

The 43-year-old priest talked with John Grey, reporter of The Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph. The priest has been identified as one of two authors of a controversial article condemning Quebec election methods. The other writer is reported to be Rev. Louis O'Neill, a professor of morality in the faculty of theology of Laval.

Abbe Dion is quoted by Grey as saying that a suggestion for the establishment of a public morality league contained in the article will not receive "positive support" from the press in Quebec Province.

Reporter Grey writes that Abbe Dion said "such a movement could not expect any positive support from the province's press, besides having opposition

$100,000 Fire Hits Cloverdale Legion

(The Canadian Press) CLOVERDALE — A three-alarm fire destroyed the Canadian Legion hall here Tuesday night. President William Stagg estimated damage at about $100,000.

The two-storey building housed a cafe, printing office and the offices of the Coast Vegetable Marketing Board.

Mr. Stagg said fire marshals have been called to investigate the four-hour blaze.

Firemen and equipment were rushed to Cloverdale from Blaine, Wash., eight miles south, as well as nearby Johnson Heights, Langley and Port Kells.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately known. Reports indicated it was preceded by two explosions on the top floor.

Fifteen persons were evacuated but no injuries were reported.

PRINCETON—A North Vancouver woman was injured Tuesday and damage was estimated at some $2,500 in a three-car collision on the Hope-Princeton highway, 48 miles west of here.

Cars involved were driven by John Nicholson of Williams Lake, Waldo Houghton of Downey, Calif.

Cost Not Halting Pt. Ellice Span

Council Confirms Decision to Build Despite Steel Price, Damaged Piers

A special meeting of city council Tuesday confirmed its decision to proceed with Point Ellice bridge despite a threat of rising costs.

City engineer James C. Garnett won new expressions of confidence from council and was authorized to call for tenders for steel supply and for repairs to the old bridge piers which will be used for the new structure.

The engineer told council he felt $72,000 would more than cover the cost of repairs to the piers and the only alternative was to spend $300,000 to $400,000 building new piers.

Increased steel prices would put the earlier estimates up $10,000, he thought.

NOT TOO HIGH
He felt the final price of the new bridge would not be far above the $550,000 approved by plebiscite earlier this year.

Mayor Percy Surrah said previous to the meeting that costs might go as high as $20,000 above the $550,000 set aside earlier. He thought if such was the case the increase could be met in the 1957 budget, without recourse to another plebiscite.

Ald. D. Smith asked, "In fairness to the engineer, why did the underwater examination of the old bridge piers not take place before?"

Mr. Garnett explained, "We knew they were in good condition above the water, which is normally a good indication of conditions below the water line... there was no settlement of the piers."

He said further that at the time the original estimates were made the bridge had not been designed and it was not known what stresses the structure would have to meet. When it was decided the bridge would be heavier, the examination was made.

"Coffer dam work is anticipated to be done in a manner which will not erode. One had a right to expect the piers would be sound. He also pointed out that there were no funds available before the plebiscite to pay for an underwater examination."

Ald. M. H. Mooney recalled that former city engineer, the late Cyril Jones, and a consulting engineer had both given assurance the piers were sound.

"It was a smart move on the part of the engineer to have a diver go down."

Ald. Austin Curtis said it was his understanding concrete would last years and years. He said in the day when the bridge was built it was common practice to use beach sand and he had heard salt water had been mixed with the concrete.

NO CRITICISM DUE
"Normally, if it's OK on top, it's OK on the bottom. If the engineer had suggested a diver, we'd have said, 'Let's wait till we build the bridge.' I don't think any criticism is due; we didn't give him the money."

He said the cost of the pier repairs should not be lumped with the other bridge costs. It would have to be done even if the new bridge were not built and should come from general revenue as a maintenance expenditure.

Only member of council to express displeasure was Ald. Robert Macmillan who made a last-ditch attempt to have a new bridge built at Arm street and Harriett road rather than replace the present structure.

He argued that the present plan, despite the fact funds have been raised from sale of tax-reverted lands, is being paid by the city's 20,000 property holders, rather than by all the people who use the bridge, who live in other municipalities as well as in Victoria.

Alderman Macmillan asked the engineer be ordered to prepare estimates of cost for a bridge at Arm street. He said besides being a shorter span, it would be an aid to traffic disbursement at rush hour, evading the fountain circle.

Allstate paid $90,700,587

in auto insurance claims during 1955!

■ Allstate has long been famous for low cost auto insurance. But here's another important reason why Allstate Auto Insurance is a really better value too. Allstate's record is unsurpassed for keeping our promise of protection.

Last year Allstate Insurance Company paid out $90,700,587 to protect our policyholders. An average of $337,089 every working day of the year!

At the same time, Allstate's service organization grew to number over 2,600 thoroughly trained agents and more than 8,200 other full time employees conveniently located in 998 offices throughout the Provinces and U.S.

It's no wonder that in 1955, for the second straight year, car owners bought more auto insurance from Allstate than any other company based on direct written premiums. You can't buy better auto insurance, why pay more?

OUR VERY OWN GARDENING GUIDE

(Getting Ready for Winter Edition.)
You may think August is too early to get your garden ready for winter.

As a matter of fact, I have always thought so, too. I have long clung to the belief the time to get your garden ready for winter was when winter comes, and after all, when winter comes, can spring be far behind and then it is time for the Spring edition of Our Very Own Gardening Guide.

But recent research has convinced me now is the time to get your garden ready for winter.

This research came to a head yesterday when I perused the "Home Garden" column written by our Very Own expert on gardening, none other than Jack Beasall.

The authoritative Mr. Beasall wrote: "The well tended gardens suffered more damage when the cold weather came last November than gardens which had been comparatively neglected."

It is obvious, from the tenor of Mr. Beasall's authoritative statements, it is never too soon to start neglecting your garden.

After all, you would not wish your garden to suffer this winter through a lack of early neglect, would you?

A neglect in time will save nine, I always say.

Therefore, my advice to you is, start neglecting your garden now.

Don't delay. Neglect your garden today.

It is wise to take this neglecting operation in easy stages. You might well start out by neglecting to cut the grass.

Then you could progress a step further, by neglecting to loosen the soil around the rocks in the rock garden.

You wouldn't want the rocks in the rock garden to wither away and die during the winter because you had neglected to neglect loosening the soil around them, would you?

Having steeled yourself to neglecting to cut the grass and neglecting the rocks in the rock garden, it should be a simple step to neglect everything in the garden.

Thus you can be assured your neglected garden will suffer less damage, come cold weather, than the well tended gardens.

I realize it takes a great deal of self control to neglect a garden thoroughly.

After all, I, too, am a garden lover. But, through a supreme effort, I have managed to neglect mine with excellent results for nigh unto 40 years.

STILL ONE TO GO

Battling Ben Laughren holds up nine fingers, indicating ninth bid to beat Juan de Fuca, which ended in failure today six miles out. He'll keep trying, even if he runs out of fingers. Dead water finished try today. Trainer Ove Witt looks on. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

Ninth Strait Swim Attempt By Big Ben Laughren Fails

By TONY DICKASON

Ninth attempt by valiant Ben Laughren ended today after seven hours and 22 minutes battling the waters of "heartbreak strait."

The Victoria chef hit an unexpected dead spot six miles out from the breakwater, where he had plunged in at 3.30 a.m. today.

Progress stopped. He came out at 10.52 a.m.

"It's tough," said trainer Ove Witt, "but we'll never give up."

"I've been fishing out here for years and have never seen anything like it," said navigator Stan Page. "Why, you can't see a ripple."

He said "I'm beginning to wonder if this swim is ever going to be made from Victoria." He has navigated Laughren on six attempts.

Big Ben pulled himself up the ladder of the accompanying vessel, Meola about mid-centre of G-6 on the Times swim map.

"Yes," said Ben emphatically, "asked if he'll take another crack at Juan de Fuca."

CAUGHT EBB TIDE

From the breakwater, the 270-pound swimmer caught an ebb tide as planned, and another ebb at Point Atkinson. He clipped the corner of Constance Bank at 9.30 a.m. and hit into the 14-fathom rough water at 58 strokes to the minute.

"If it just stays like this n.w., his wife Edith breathed fervently.

"Come on daddy," said son Dennis, 10, with his mother aboard the Meola.

Navigator Page intended Ben to ride the ebb tide to within 2 1/2 miles of Port Angeles.

"We have to be close to the U.S. shore by the time the tide changes at 1.30 p.m. or we can't make it," he said earlier.

Then Ben hit the dead water. He stopped swimming and shouted to Witt: "What's the trouble. Tide not good?"

Consultations took place between Witt and Page while Ben had one of his hourly feedings of orange juice and glucose.

Slowly Page rowed back to the accompanying vessel. From the dinghy he said somberly "he can't beat the flood."

It was all over.

Of Friday's swim of Marilyn Bell, Big Ben said "she's got a very good chance to beat the strait as she has the speed to catch the tides."

RCN REMODELS PARK FOR NAVY DAY SHOW

The RCN want to work in earnest today on final preparations for Navy Day next Wednesday.

Work parties moved into Beacon Hill park, and tugs and derrick scows installed mooring buoys off the foreshore.

All exhibits and activities will be concentrated in the Beacon Hill park area immediately below the lookout.

This morning a power shovel and a bulldozer started excavation of a tank in which navy frogmen and regulation divers will display their skills.

Tenders Called For Bridge Steel

Tenders for steel construction work on the new Point Ellice bridge were called at city hall today.

J. H. Rogers, Ex-Detective, Dies in City

John H. Rogers, 69, a member of the Victoria police force for 35 years before he retired with the rank of detective-inspector in 1947, died here Tuesday.

Mr. Rogers played a central role in investigation of Victoria's most noted crimes, including the Lionel Lorenz murder in 1923, which he helped solve.

Funeral service will be held at Sands Mortuary Saturday at 1.30 p.m. Interment will be in Toronto.

He is survived by his widow, May, at home, 1059 Penrelew Place.

Inspector Rogers was born at Penzance, Cornwall, joining the city police department in 1912.

He was promoted to detective in 1920, and became detective-inspector in 1937. During his long career with the force he served under chiefs John M. Langley, John Fry, Thomas Heatley and John A. McLellan.

He served overseas in the First World War in the medical corps and the Military Police Corps for four years, and was discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Inspector Rogers was one of the organizers of the Victoria City Police Revolver Club.

With Deputy Chief Harry J. O'Leary he was instrumental in uncovering $200,000 in counterfeit $10 and $20 bills at Calgary in 1926, and the arrest of the criminals at Victoria.

Annual Playpark Boxing Contests Featured Friday

Annual playground boxing card will be a feature of city playground sports day at Central Park Friday afternoon.

Sports day, commencing at 1.30 p.m. will wind up playground activities for the summer. Events being recorded on the ships' stills include flat races, potato races, still races, skipping competition and wheelbarrow races.

Fifteen bouts have been arranged to decide the playground boxing champion. Prizes will be awarded later in the afternoon.

All other parks will be closed. Admiral H. L. Collins, commander, cruiser division one.

Matheson Lake To Be B.C. Park

Area of About 358 Acres Taken Near Rocky Point

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston announced today that the government has acquired an area of about 358 acres of "high recreational potential" located at Matheson lake near Rocky point, only 19 miles from the heart of Victoria.

"We believe that this area will provide an ideal camping area together with a good picnic site for day use," Mr. Williston said. "It is within one hour's drive of Victoria and enjoys the same climate."

He said development is expected during the summer of 1957 making the park available for use during 1958.

BY CNE TRACKS

Matheson Lake is on the west slope of the divide between Pedder Bay and Sooke harbor at the foot of Mount Matheson. It is reached by following the Sooke road to Glen Lake, turning left at that point down the Rocky Point road.

The lake is alongside the Canadian National Railway tracks at about the fourth crossing on Rocky Point road.

"It is typical of the many smaller lakes of southern Vancouver Island being about three-quarters of a mile long and a quarter-mile wide at its broadest point," Mr. Williston said.

The regular contour is broken on its southern side by a long curved rock point with a small island near its eastern end. Five small creeks drain into Matheson Lake, which has one main outlet. An old dam, now cut through, once raised its level by three or four feet.

MANY FACILITIES

"We feel Matheson Lake is best suited for use by campers and picnickers," the minister said. But many other forms of recreation are possible in its development, including hiking, fishing, swimming and other forms of water sport."

The question of taking over the Matheson Lake area has been under consideration by the lands and forests department for some time.

"We have taken this step after very careful consideration of the needs of our provincial parks system," Mr. Williston told The Times.

A few years ago efforts were made to establish a park area in the Sooke district around Grassy Lake. The project appeared ideal as a recreation area close to Victoria but was abandoned when difficulties arose over access.

The Matheson Lake plan offers similar amenities and gives the lower Island region another picnic and camping site so urgently desired by outdoor recreation interests here.

30 Youngsters Enter Showboat Amateur Tests

Thirty youngsters have already entered the $100 prize amateur Showboat which will be staged all this month at Beaver Lake.

The teenage performers will appear each Friday evening on a special platform built on the new diving float. About eight contestants will appear each Friday. Show starts at 7.30 p.m.

First show will be held this Friday. Organizer Will Sadler said today that the Musicians' Union will supply Andy Anderson's orchestra through a special grant made by the musicians' trust fund. Emcee will be Andy Stephen.

Finals for the competition, when best of each show will meet, are slated for Thursday, Aug. 30. Top winner will receive $100.

Various city music stores will sponsor each weekly performance with Wards Music officiating Friday.

Decisions will be made by two judges to be supplied by the Musicians' Union and another to be appointed.

$10 Million Loan Authorized for PGE

The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway has been authorized by the cabinet to borrow another $10,000,000 to help pay for its northern and southern extensions.

The railway is empowered by the legislature to borrow up to $60,000,000. So far it has borrowed more than $22,000,000.

APPOINTED to the newly-created post of naval comptroller at headquarters in Ottawa is former Victoria officer, Commodore Rupert A. Wright, 50. The new post is aimed at ensuring effective use of manpower, material, and financial resources. He will also serve as a member of the naval board.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Could you give me the address of the Civil Defence Headquarters in Canada and the name of the government department under which it functions?

Mrs. S.S.

A.—Both parts of the question can be given a single answer. Letters to Civil Defence Headquarters should be addressed to the Civil Defence Co-ordinator, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa.

Q.—Is there a publication in Canada devoted to hobbies?

D.M.

A.—Yes, The Canadian Hobbycraft Magazine. It is published by the McLaughlin Publishing Co., Box 1113, London, Ont.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem, along with the Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Theft of two cameras valued at $200 from two U.S. sailors visiting the city was reported to police today.

The cameras were stolen from the car of Mrs. E. Williams, 3181 Carman, who had driven the sailors about the city and took them to the Royal Theatre.

The sailors were identified as R. F. Gray and Burton K. Harris, both from the Agerholm, which sailed today after a four-day visit.

He was also placed on a $500 good behavior bond.

Victoria Cadet On B.C. Team to Ottawa Shoot-Off

Sharpshooting army cadet L. Bdr. Eddie Walker, 14, 3405 Browning, is on his way to Ottawa's Connaught Range to take part in Dominion of Canada Rifle Association annual competition.

He won his way to a place on the 10-man B.C. team by taking B.C. Interior Rifle Association grand aggregate cup and Legion trophy in shooting last month.

Tied with a girl competitor, Walker shot 13 consecutive bulls, bettering his opponent by one bull's-eye to take top honors.

Thanks to his skill on the range, Walker will become a rifle instructor for his unit, 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery Cadet Corps, this winter.

He is a ranking contender to represent B.C. at Bixley next year. One army cadet will be selected to go overseas.

Saanich firemen lost Tuesday night in a race to save a burning roaster.

The call was to the home of Gordon Christian, 725 Cowper, where his daughter, alone in the house, raced to a neighbor to say the oven had exploded.

The roaster was carried by a fireman into the driveway to be extinguished. It was inedible.

Mayor Percy Scutrah was asked by city council Tuesday to investigate possibility of federal waiving of 10 per cent sales tax on material for the Point Ellice Bridge.

He told council he had already investigated possibility of receiving a similar dispensation from the provincial government but had been told by Premier Bennett the exemption was impossible.

PGE Loadings Show 64% Increase

Following the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from Quesnel to Prince George, car loadings on the PGE for the week ending July 21 showed an increase of 64.9 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

They amounted to 919 revenue cars loaded, Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Chetwynd reported today.

There were 477 carloads of lumber, timber and plywood, against 335 last year; 178 cars of logs, posts, poles and piling compared with 112 last year.

Fishermen Earned More Money in June

British Columbia fishermen made twice as much money in June as in the same month a year ago — $2,138,000 compared with $1,177,000. The gain was due to better prices and to increased salmon and halibut landings.

EARLY SEPTEMBER WEDDING VOWS

Mr. and Mrs. John (Jack) T. Parker, 103 Bushby street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Lucy Joan, to Mr. Lawrence Martin Howe, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howe, Kimberley, B.C. The marriage will take place in Fairfield United Church, Sept. 1 at 7.30 p.m., with Rev. T. Haythorne officiating. The bride-elect will have Mrs. Lyle Robertson as matron of honor, and Miss Barbara Shoemaker as bridesmaid. Mr. Lyle Robertson will be best man, and ushers will be Mr. Trevor James and Mr. Glen Valde. The groom-elect is a graduate in engineering physics from University of British Columbia. (Photo of Miss Parker by Gordon Pinkerton.)

In Honor of the Bride

Popular bride-elect, Miss Sylvia Ditchburn, was guest of honor, last evening, when Mrs. J. A. Humphrey, 947 Aral Street, entertained at a miscellaneous shower. A pink and white basket held gifts and a corsage of pink roses was presented to Miss Ditchburn. Her mother, Mrs. R. B. Ditchburn, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. Jack House, received corsages of pink carnations. Invited guests were Mrs. H. S. Jones, Mrs. W. Cameron, Mrs. W. Valleand, Mrs. N. Collison, Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. M. Christie, Mrs. N. Murray, Mrs. L. Jacklin and Misses Dorothy Sullivan, Shirli Marshall, Patti Jones, Donna Kerr, Beverly Wells, and Irene Young.

Miss Ditchburn was also honored when Miss Patti Jones entertained at a surprise miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jones, Cadboro Bay Road. Upon arrival, the guest of honor received a corsage of peach-toned gladioli. Pastel pink sweet peas and carnations, in corsage, were presented to the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Ray Ditchburn, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. Jack House. To compliment the bride-elect's interest in music, gifts were concealed in a container decorated with musical notations. A silver bowl of pink and white sweet peas centred the refreshment table, at which Mrs. Ditchburn presided. Guests included Mrs. S. Lewis, Mrs. T. Kensington, Mrs. W. H. Muncy, Mrs. W. Gilmour, Mrs. W. Valleand, Mrs. J. Burns, Mrs. G. Curney, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Phillips, Mrs. J. Rainey, Mrs. J. Humphrey and Misses Enid Aibel, Barbara Dale, Irene Young, Shirli Marshall, Sandra Gilmour, Audrey Jahn Dorothy Sullivan, Marion Stevenson, Margaret Little, Beverly Wells and Carole Jones.

Mrs. G. R. Yates, Vancouver, entertained at a miscellaneous shower recently at the home of her mother-in-law, Mrs. J. Yates, Hulford street, Victoria, to honor Miss Cora Manton, formerly of Victoria, whose marriage will take place in Alberni later this month. The honor guest was presented with a corsage of white gladioli and feathered carnations. Gifts were concealed in a wishing well decorated with garden flowers and wedding bells. Assisting in serving were Mrs. W. E. Oldhall, Mrs. G. C. Litster and Miss Barbara Oldhall. Invited guests included Mrs. J. Yates, Mrs. G. R. Yates, Mrs. S. Zarelli, Mrs. R. Mackay, Mrs. M. M. Blackstock, Mrs. A. E. Underwood, Mrs. J. Sutherland, Mrs. J. H. Comber, Mrs. A. Ruskowski, Mrs. J. Lenfesty, Mrs. J. Conolly, Mrs. W. C. Matthews, Mrs. G. C. Litster, Mrs. F. Brice, Mrs. K. ### Rothwell-Bamforth Vows Heard in Vancouver Chapel

Christ Church Cathedral chapel, Vancouver, was scene of a pretty afternoon ceremony when Rev. G. Stegen heard the vows of Miss Evelyn Joan Bamforth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bamforth, Vancouver, and Roderick M. Rothwell, son of Mrs. A. Rothwell, New Westminster, in a double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white linen sheath with picture hat and carried pink roses with white streamers.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Eloise Chapman, wore a turquoise linen sheath with beige picture hat and corsage of yellow gladioli and violets.

The groom's brother, Andrew Rothwell, was best man. White chrysanthemums and gladioli with pink carnations and sweet peas were arranged with candelabra to form a setting for the reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Grant, Marine drive. Dr. Leroy Wobick proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon in Washington and Oregon, the bride donned a white duster over her wedding dress. Her accessories were black patent leather. Mr. and Mrs. Rothwell will live in Vancouver.

Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Moore, 1534 Lang Street, were honored recently at a family party arranged to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. A toast and presentation was made by Capt. T. Moore. For the occasion Mr. and Mrs. Moore's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore, came from New Westminster. The following afternoon, the honor couple entertained friends at a cocktail party. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore are vacationing in Victoria and are guests at the family home on Lang Street.

From Toronto

Renewing friendships in Victoria last week were Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Maynard of Toronto, Mr. Maynard who is well known in business circles as the eastern representative of the P. Burns Company, recently retired after 45 years' service. He is prominent in Gyro work and was a guest at the local Gyro luncheon last week.

Mrs. Maynard is a former Victorian. During the week they visited with Hon. R. W. Mayhew and Mrs. Mayhew, Mrs. J. E. Clay and Major and Mrs. A. G. Dobbie at Shawnigan Lake. Both Mr. and Mrs. Maynard have many friends in Victoria and spent many winter holidays here.

For classroom hours, the college girl will wear the slim skirt this fall. But when it comes to dates, she'll blossom out in wide skirts and even prop them with petticoats. We show the slim silhouette (left) in Smarter's slip-over ridged cotton knit with turtle neck worn with a cotton sheath skirt. Colors are camel and black. Lightly quilted cotton print (centre) by Fligelman is used for little jacket and wide skirt. Jacket has black velvet collar and lace braid trim. Skirt for classroom wear (right) by Century is in-tweed, is belted and has the classic lines that college girls love. It would look equally well with shirts.

College Girls Are Favoring Sheath Dresses For Fashionable Back-to-Class Wear in Fall

NEW YORK (NEA) — On their return to the campus this fall, college girls will find themselves living in and with the slim silhouette to a far greater degree than they've ever done. Those who've disguised figure problems with wide skirts will find that they're faced with a program of diet and exercise. Wide skirts will still be worn but not to the extent true in the past.

Keeping company with the slim silhouette will be better grooming. Somehow, slim lines call for straight stocking seams, a shining hair and even hemlines.

Foundation garments are more important and the pantie girdle is an absolute must. Classroom skirts, Bermuda shorts and even dressy wool dresses are slim this fall. Blue jeans have vanished into the blue and in their place are slim Bermuda shorts in every conceivable fabric, in solid colors and plaids. In fact, the college wardrobe is built around slim skirts, cotton shirts, cashmere sweaters and Bermuda shorts.

Then comes the basic wool dress, to be accessorized to suit the occasion, a suit or two, a simple wool coat and some short evening dresses. The grey (coming) show that college girls flannel suit (an old standby) are loyal to old favorites but and the loden coat (new and in-willing to try something new.

AS WE LIVE

Offspring Should Not Be Judged by Parents' Traits

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

There is no question about the fact that a girl is greatly influenced by her mother, especially when she and her mother are congenial. However, one should never judge the daughter wholly by what her mother is. That is what I pointed out to the worried mother who wrote:

"My son has been going with a girl for nearly five years. In fact, he has never gone with any other girl. He is a very serious, industrious fellow, with high ambitions for his future. This girl comes from a very nice family but she is just like her mother. She thinks the only important things in life are parties, clothes, and having a good time. Her mother is not a good housekeeper and is always out having a good time. She skimps on the family food so she can buy clothes for herself. I don't want my son to marry a person who will treat him as this woman has treated her husband. How can I make him see that he is letting himself in for trouble if he marries this girl?" — D. L. C.

(A) — Have you any evidence, other than supposition, on which to condemn this girl because of her mother? She may be like her mother and be following in her mother's footsteps but, again, she may not.

It is quite common for children of selfish, self-centered parents to be the opposite. This girl may have experienced so many inconveniences and deprivations because of her mother's selfishness that she has determined never to allow it to happen in her own home.

Because she has had a first-hand experience of living in the home of a person who thinks more of parties and clothes than she does of her home, this girl may be a very particular, careful housekeeper. She may also turn out to be a "homebody" because she has seen the futility of a life with little else but parties.

Why not invite this girl to visit you for a week during the summer holidays, when your son is home on vacation? You can tell pretty well, by having her in your home and away from her mother just what sort of person she is and what sort of wife she will make for your son.

Chasing Gloom From The Laundry

Do you feel blue on Mondays? Perhaps it is not so much the washing as the dark and dingy laundry room that depresses you. Maybe you can't have a modern laundry next to the kitchen, but a little paint will chase the blues away from your basement laundries.

Replace lack of direct sunlight with light-reflecting paint. Soft, jonnell yellow, white or a pale tint of cream or ivory will help overcome inadequate windows. Cold walls become warm when grey, pinkish buff or soft green.

A good quality latex base paint is ideal for wallboard and plaster walls. For concrete walls, cement and stucco paint is recommended. A durable alkali-proof enamel, especially designed for concrete floors, can't be spoiled by spilled detergents and soaps or the lime salts which form on moist concrete and ruin ordinary paints. This enamel can be painted over old paint and a bright Catalina blue, terra cotta or grey will banish much of that dungeon look.

Before painting the floor, remove soap splashes around the laundry tubs by scrubbing with turpentine. Be sure the concrete is dry and free of dust and loose paint. Since the alkali-proof enamels dry solely by evaporation of the solvent, good ventilation is necessary while they are being applied. Two coats are recommended for all concrete floors, allowing each to dry overnight. These coats won't waterproof your basement against leaky walls, but will resist the damaging effects of dampness.

White is suggested for the ceiling because of its light-reflecting ability.

Now you are ready for the finishing touches. Brightly colored plastic curtains which can be popped into the washing machine and be hooked on the windows the same morning are ideal.

When other members of the family see what a little paint has done for the laundry room, perhaps they will be encouraged to tidy up the rest of the basement!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Importance of Perfecting Personality Is Emphasized

During a conversation with Robert Weede, the great baritone, now star of the Broadway hit "The Most Happy Fella," some interesting subjects were discussed.

Among them was the idea that while it is important to correct what physical defects we may have, it is much more important to perfect our personality, to be warm and interested and enthusiastic, that good looks is only a small part of attractiveness. When Mr. Weede was asked how he explains the fact that so many handsome men marry plain women and that so many beautiful women marry men who are far from handsome, he replied:

"Lots of reasons, but one may be that people who have looks themselves are often insecure for other reasons. They deprecate what they have and greatly admire other things; strength, intellect, accomplishment — or what not. So they seek a mate who has important qualities beside beauty or good looks." I am sure that this is very true. He and I also agree that it is a waste of life and so sad when folks allow physical defects to rob them of the adventure and happiness of living, and that erling you and you can do something about it, if it is really bad enough to be worth the trouble, then remedy it. If it cannot be corrected, for heaven's sake, don't let it ruin your life! Life is too wonderful to be spoiled by physical defects.

It might be interesting if some of you would write me your ideas about why so many beautiful girls marry homely men and why so many handsome men marry plain women.

Preparing for a Party Can Be Half of the Fun

The woman who is well organized and prepared to attend an important social gathering is going to feel more confident and relaxed than the housewife who finds herself hurried and hurried right up to the minute of departure for a party.

You can save time and energy by starting to prepare for the party the day you get your invitation. Here's a party formula you might find helpful:

Phone your hostess-to-be. She'll be delighted that you're taking such an interest in the event and during the conversation she may give you a "dress" cue. Before you leave the phone, call your favorite baby sitter and book her for the evening. Lining up a baby sitter at the last moment can be hazardous.

Have the eternal question of "What'll I wear?" settled, accessories included, a week before the party day. Get something new. It doesn't have to be much. Sometimes just a new flower pinned at your waist will give the needed party touch. As you decide the dress question, plan for your pre-party shampoo, manicure and pedicure. If your hair is at its best on the same day it's shampooed, get it done as early as possible on the day of the party. If your hair is more manageable several days after washing, shampoo it several days before the party.

Set a two-days-before-the-party deadline for a thorough manicure and pedicure. The slight marks that might occur afterwards can be taken care of with a final coat of polish during the pre-dressing beauty treatment.

Devote the day before the party to making your party day as free as possible. Along with your regular dinner, prepare a pre-party meal. It can be a casserole, a roast or any dish that needs only to be reheated.

If you've followed the formula, you'll find that you do have time for your pre-party grooming treatment. For stay-at-home mothers, the best time for this is during the afternoon while the baby is napping or the children are in school. The career woman can perform this ritual while the pre-cooked dinner is warming up.

A luxurious, hot, perfumed bath combined with a facial and at least five minutes of complete relaxation and eye rest will prove restful and refreshing. While your bath water is running, wind a hair-stay cap around your pinned hair and cream your face and neck heavily. If your skin is inclined to be oily apply a facial mask instead of the cream before getting into the tub.

A brisk drying topped with a complete rubbing of body lotion or cologne and you're beginning to feel good. Removal of the cream or mask followed by a cool rinsing and two drops of eye lotion in each eye will complete the million-dollar feeling.

Now you're all set except for the actual dressing and make-up. Keep up the luxurious relaxed feeling during this last stage of party preparing. Remember the touches that give you a prettier party look: a touch of rouge to your forehead, ear lobes and chin; a touch of eyeshadow; mascara on the upper lashes, and red lipstick with a blue tinge in it which makes it look vibrant under electric lights.

Make sure you tell your baby sitter where you can be reached and you're off—prepared to the last detail for an evening of fun.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1956

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Fine for practically anything you want to do with others, just so you are more than usually careful at home. Make sure you talk matters out with partners. A real understanding is now possible. Why not use it?

Taurus (April 20 to May 20)—Whatever has to do with planning, entertainment, sports, recreation, good times in the immediate, as well as more distant future, can now be placed into motion. Get out and have some fun tonight with newcomers.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Making any alterations, additions, improvements at home today is very easy by applying yourself with utter regard for every single detail therewith connected. Tonight brings chance for better arrangement. Be open-minded.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Now you actually have it in your power to phrase and state your ideas in pungent, but harmonious, expressions. Fine for all types of communications or correspondence. Let others know how you regard them in pleasant light.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Making repairs of all kinds in your practical interests brings out some much improved method of operation. Get your throat in perfect condition. Also good for dramatizing any situation to bring more powerfully to other's views.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 21)—Use that unusual talent that is yours for getting every detail in correct placement by making your own possessions more attractive, artistic, interesting. Avoid over-emotional friends who would draw you into silly argument.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22)—Now you can steer clear of those in power and get yourself in pink of condition in health, personal appearance and pleasant social contacts. Use your sense of arts to increase your well-being, productivity now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—Avoid that temptation that beckons you to leave current obligations of a confidential, investigative nature. Perpetrate out whatever you do not understand. Then, you gain accurate picture of all that's now going on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—This is your day to avoid all financial commitments, but to get together with warm well-wishers; ardent admirers, staunch supporters and firm friends to arrive at real meeting of minds as to where you are headed, how to get there.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Steer clear of partner who feels abused, put upon just to get attention. Fine instead for whatever is of public, civic, worldly nature. Be sure to show those in authority that you are loyal, devoted, civic-minded person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Do whatever chores you have awaiting your attention early. Then full-grown ahead to whatever place brings you new ideas, new methods, new acquaintances, new aspirations and new inspiration. Raise your whole scope of activity NOW.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—Simple, inexpensive pleasures are best if you feel you must cut up a bit. However, you are under excellent influences for getting together with partners and arranging financial or any joint interests in the future. Talk it out NOW.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY

Thursday's child is one of those fascinating youngsters who will have a peculiar charm and a great deal of understanding how best to cope with life and those with whom he, or she, comes in contact on co-operative levels. It is necessary that you teach early however, that in personal relations one should not be too demanding on the time of others since this attractive youngster will dislike being alone. Fine for whatever worker requires neatness, precision and exactness with an artistic bias.

my side of the story

A continuing series
BY THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

Herman Rogers wrote Charles Bedaux that his offer of a house was being accepted, pointing out that the selection was bound to give rise to widespread publicity and that, therefore, if Mr. Bedaux had any skeletons concealed in his cupboard he would be well advised to measure the consequences—in his own interest as well as in the interest of the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Simpson.

The answer must have been reassuring, for Hermann informed me that Cande was at our disposal.

Early in March, Katherine, Hermann and I left for Cande.

We travelled in a downpour all the way north, finally arriving at the chateau in the grey dusk.

To avoid reporters, who were already posted at the main gate, we entered the grounds by a rear entrance, and my first glimpse of Cande was pleasing—grey walls and slim turrets in the slanting rain.

WARM WELCOME

Mrs. Bedaux was at the door to greet us. She struck me as an unusually handsome woman graceful and poised.

"I was afraid," she said, "that this beastly rain would delay you. You must be tired and chilled. Tea is ready if you want it."

My first favorable impression of Fern Bedaux was to be deepened and strengthened by our subsequent association. Her physical beauty and charm were the outer manifestations of a generous spirit.

Whatever her subtle husband may have expected to gain from the loan of his chateau, I am convinced that Fern Bedaux was innocent of any ulterior purpose.

Seldom in my life have I known a person to show more kindness to a stranger. Within a few years she was to experience personal tragedy—her husband, suspected of being disloyal to his country, came to an untimely end.

Fern Bedaux led us into what she called the library—a large paneled room with a handsome fireplace in which several logs were blazing. We were famished: the tea refreshed us.

HIGHLY TACTFUL

Among her other admirable qualities Fern exhibited tact of a high order. She asked nothing about my wedding plans, simply remarking that she was leaving the next day and hoped I would stay at Cande as long as I desired. "Now let me show you around," she said.

The drawing room, spacious and high-ceilinged, with oak panelling, was more formal and, I thought, less attractive than the library.

Off this room was a smaller salon, very French, with pale paneled walls and Louis Seize furniture. I instantly decided that this was the room in which I would be married.

Having shown us around, Fern Bedaux left us in our rooms to change for dinner. The long ride in the rain had tired me, and I lay down, hoping to snatch a nap before my bath.

numerous questions in my life and David's that still were unresolved.

Where would we start our life together? What to do about our things in Great Britain? Would there ever be a reconciliation between David and his family? How to deal with the renewed onslaught of the Press that the marriage was certain to bring? There was another question that troubled me still more. Who would marry us? Under French law there must be a separate civil ceremony

30 Victoria Daily Times
WEDNESDAY, AUG. 8, 1936

apart from a religious ceremony, if the latter is performed. We would in any case be married by the Mair of the nearby town of Monks. But David was anxious to be married in a church as well. He has a deeply religious side; he regretted that he could not be married, as his ancestors had been, in the Church of England and with its blessing.

With the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra under Sir Thomas Beecham, Bart We have to use the superlative "great" to describe this picture because no other adjective will do. It's a great film depicting a great story, performed by a great cast in a great setting. It makes great use of Technicolor and in addition is a great musical. It brings to the screen the first full ballet ever, brilliant, composed, and destined for the cinema. In short, for Drama, Romance and exquisite ballet, it's a great experience. For sheer entertainment for all ages we heartily recommend this picture to our patrons.

Considering the number of 'small outboard-powered boats in use here, "Pleasure Afloat" this week will appear in two installments devoted to the problem of facilities for the rapidly growing group of part-time sailors. The first deals with the problem, and the second will review what has been done and what is desired.

BY DON INGHAM

Lack of launching ramps for small boats is creating a traffic problem here which threatens to match the five o'clock jams at the Fountain Circle.

Villains in the situation are Victoria's unparalleled surroundings, so ideally suited for boating, and the phenomenal growth in popularity of the trailer-born outboard motor boat.

No one knows exactly how many of this type of craft there are in Greater Victoria, but there are an estimated 3,000 pleasure craft with motors of 10 horsepower or more, according to government registration figures. The number of smaller boats with motors of under 10 horsepower is not known. It must be enormous.

The problem, of course, is getting these boats into the water.

RAMP NEEDED

Four or five husky men can launch a small boat anywhere, but a man and his wife and two youngsters need either a ramp down which a trailer can be backed by car, or a hoist.

There is no use in suggesting that boats should be kept in the water, because mooring space in Greater Victoria is at a premium. It is partly because of the lack of mooring, and the advantages of having one's boat in the back yard while not in use, that the trailer-born unit has risen to popularity.

Fishermen like to follow the salmon from Sooke to Brochie one's boat in the back yard Deep Cove to Cowichan Bay and as far Up-Island as their cars and propellers will take them.

EASIER TO MOVE

Pleasure boaters want to feel they can change their cruising waters safely and often by moving from one spot to another, and racers like a safe spot to launch a boat and test it without interfering with others.

"Ramps are the only answer," said Wilfred Hughes of the newly-formed Victoria Outboard Club, organized especially for outboard fishermen and pleasure boaters.

STAND IN LINE

"Proof of the need is the launching ramp at Oak Bay, built by the municipality of Oak Bay, and so crowded on holidays boatmen must stand in line," he said.

A firm public beach at Shawnigan Lake has so much traffic on Sundays that police must be on hand to maintain order.

Marine dealer Dave Angus said there is no launching site on Saanich Inlet with the exception of a private site at Mill Bay.

Increasing numbers of tourists are bringing their boats with them to Vancouver Island, he said, then find no place to put them in the water.

"This is the best cruising area in North America," he said, "and more and more people are realizing it. Some recognition should be made of their needs."

The number of boat owners increased by 250 per cent between 1954 and 1955, and an even greater jump is expected by next year. Some proof of the trend is seen in the United States, where boating has upset bowling as the most popular participant sport, and Canadian habits are similar to those of our largest neighbor.

"This area has the largest number of boats per capita of any in the world," Mr. Hughes said. "It's a marine playground like no other in the world, and deserves some development."

NO BALL OF FIRE in the business world but a big chief with the kids is Bob Hope, starred with Eva Marie Saint and George Sanders in "That Certain Feeling," Technicolor heart-warmer showing Monday at the Royal Theatre. The Paramount VistaVision film features singer Pearl Bailey and is based on the Broadway hit "The King of Hearts."

'SH-BOOM' BOYS LIKELY TO SING HERE AUG. 24

Singing quartet "The Crew Cuts" from Toronto may appear in the Memorial arena Aug. 24. Joe Dukowski, Memorial arena manager, reported Tuesday that the popular quartet may appear in Seattle and Vancouver, and "if they go there, we'll get them over here."

Definite decision on the trip should be known in 10 days, he said.

ON SUNDAY NIGHT

Silvers to Pinch-Hit For Ed Sullivan

DERBY, Conn. (UP)—TV star Ed Sullivan remained under pain-killing drugs today but was "resting more comfortably," a hospital spokesman said.

CBS announced Tuesday that comedian Phil Silvers, a long-time friend of Sullivan, would pinch-hit for him as master of ceremonies on the Sunday night "Ed Sullivan Show."

Doctors took special precautions to prevent Sullivan from contracting pneumonia. Sullivan, injured with three other persons in a two-car accident at Seymour, Conn., Monday morning, had a bad chest cold at the time of the mishap.

Joseph Palmucci, 22, of Ansonia, driver of the other car, took a turn for the worse during the night, the spokesman said. His condition, listed previously as "fair," was changed to "fair to poor."

Ralph Cacace, 34, of New Haven, a guard on Sullivan's Southbury farm, was still critical.

Robert Precht, 26, of Scarsdale, N.Y., Sullivan's son-in-law, was expected to be hospitalized "two or three weeks."

The spokesman said it was not known just how long Sullivan would remain in the hospital but "it would be for a while yet."

Nanaimo Powerboats Win Harrison Sweep

NANAIMO—Bob Stacey and his two sons swept the field in the "B" utility outboard runabout class at the Harrison Hot Springs powerboat regatta Tuesday.

First was son Percy, then father Bob, and in third place was Bob Jr.

Well known as a Victoria outboard racer 20 years ago, Bob Stacey in recent years has devoted his time to coaching his sons.

9 O'CLOCK GUN GOES TONIGHT AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's "Old Faithful," the nine o'clock gun, will boom again tonight after a week-long silence.

Welders worked overtime Tuesday repairing a crack which appeared in the gun's muzzle a week ago.

Since then, two 25-pounders and an anti-tank gun from the 15th Field Regiment have replaced Old Faithful at its firing site on Brockton Point in Stanley Park.

Two City Girls Pictured on Jap Youth Envelopes

Two Victoria girls have achieved international recognition—for being pretty and being on envelopes.

They are Frances Randall and Joan Ross, pupils in 1955 of Lansdowne Junior High, pictured on envelopes distributed by the Japan Postal Cultural Association.

In 1955 former ambassador to Japan Robert Mayhew planted two cherry trees at Lansdowne High from seed from Japan. This was in March when the school opened. Frances and Joan had their pictures taken at that time with some "ersatz" cherry blossoms—fairly mature blooms.

The Japanese postal people printed envelopes to advertise "Universal Children's Day," celebrated May 5 in Japan.

A copy of the envelope was sent the Victoria branch of the United Nations Association. The picture comes from a print originally sent by the local UN Association to its counterpart in Tokyo.

Mean Temperatures at Gonzales And Other City Points Similar

Mean temperatures at two Greater Victoria reporting stations are "almost identical" with those recorded at Gonzales Observatory, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Mr. Mackie established temperature and rainfall recording stations on the site of the old Willows race track and at Cordova Bay to make comparisons with the main station.

"There is a little more spread on some days at the minor stations," he said, "but the overall mean temperatures are almost identical."

Mr. Mackie and George I.

Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, recently had a difference of opinion on Victoria's temperature reports. Mr. Warren said reports from "high on a windy hill" did not give an accurate picture, and Mr. Mackie said he was recording air temperatures, "not re-radiation of heat downtown."

Precipitation and temperatures could have been affected by winds along the shore and cold weather temperatures in low-lying areas could be well below the Gonzales readings, he said in explaining the setting up of the stations two years ago.

Main difference is in precipitation. For 1955 Gonzales showed a total of 31.81 inches, Lansdowne 32.23 inches, and Cordova Bay 35.94 inches.

One of the most marked variations was in November last year, when Gonzales reported 7.38 inches of rain, Lansdowne 7.37, and Cordova Bay 9.20.

CALI, Colombia (AP)—Estimates of the dead in Cali's explosion went past the 1,000 mark today when Diario de Colombia, at Bogota, estimated the dead at 1,200 and La Republica of the same city said the toll might reach 1,800.

Marilyn's Diary

Sells Folks!

The days of this week are creeping along on lead-soled boots, the slow, teasing way they always do before a swim.

It seems only a few days ago that we arrived here to start training, but now, with swim day finally a fact instead of a plan, I'm sure this week will be a month long.

It is just like when I was a little girl, the week before Christmas was always unbearably long, just from anticipation.

Mom and Dad will arrive here Thursday night to help root me across but, unfortunately, I won't be able to meet them.

They will be arriving late Thursday night and I will be tucked away for the night, dreaming about Ediz Hook. However, I will see them in the early hours of Friday morning and they will be on one of the boats following the swim. Mom and Dad have never missed one of my big swims, no matter how far they have had to travel. I wouldn't want to swim without them.

You've heard of a card shark and a pool shark, who never lose when they are betting or gambling. Well, we have a swim shark in our midst, namely Maria Brenk.

Maria won a dollar bet from Cliff Lumsdon yesterday when Cliff made the mistake of betting Maria she couldn't stay in the water at Oak Bay for an hour. Maria took Cliff's dollar gleefully. I made a similar bet with her once before but I haven't yet got around to eating my bathing cap as I am supposed to do.

Everyone around our camp is setting tense and looking for ways to let off nervous energy. Poor Phyllis Griffiths of the Telegram was the target for the night last night as the practical jokers went on a spree.

When Phyllis went to bed, her sheets were all crossed up, there was soap on her toothbrush, her pyjamas were knotted and there were ominous threats written in lipstick on her mirror, signed by The Black Hand.

Rebels Routed

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Loyal Ecuadorian troops have recaptured the rebel stronghold of Portoviejo without opposition, the government announced today.

STEVENSON STATEMENT WORRIES SOUTH

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today called for "unequivocal approval" in the party's platform of the United States Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

Dismayed Southerners hurriedly conferred and Governor James P. Coleman of Mississippi said "the whole nomination situation will have to be reappraised."

270 Trapped Half-Mile Down In Fire-Wrecked Coal Mine

MARILYN'S SIGHTS ON TARGET

SWIM OFFICIALS NAMED

Weather Outlook For Friday Good

By DENNY BOYD

Warm weather and northerly winds, a nearly perfect swimming combination, was the unofficial forecast today for Marilyn Bell's Juan de Fuca Strait swim Friday.

Weatherman Bill Mackie told the Times today, "We cannot make an accurate forecast more than 36 hours in advance. However, the forecast for Thursday is for northerly winds up to 15 miles an hour and for temperatures up to 75. The outlook for Friday is for a continuation of the same conditions."

If those conditions do hold over until Friday, it will be a tremendous boost for Marilyn in her attempt to become the first person in history to swim from Victoria to Port Angeles.

WIND AT BACK

It would put the brisk wind at Marilyn's back and would act as a "pusher" rather than a deterrent. The westerly winds that usually prevail over the Strait at this time of year have been the cause of failure in most of the recent swims.

Last-minute plans for the swim continued today with the swim officials being named.

Harold Elworthy, Island Tug

and Barge Co. president, will be the official starter for the swim and will fire a gun from the beach at Horseshoe Bay to signal the start of the swim.

Marilyn will travel in the Island Champion to a point outside Horseshoe Bay and will be brought in to the beach in a small boat.

Aboard the Sudbury, largest deep-sea tug on the coast, will be official observers Bruce Humber and Hector Crombie, secretary-manager of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and Timers Viv Shoemaker and Ian Ross.

Mr. Shoemaker is secretary of the Victoria YMCA, while Mr. Ross is the owner of Butchart Gardens.

The observers will watch the swim to see that it is conducted under the rules of long-distance swimming while the timers will have stop-watches to record to

ANN MERAW IN LAKE TRY

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—A slight Vancouver housewife set out today on a swim which she hopes will take her 35 miles across Okanagan Lake to Kelowna.

Mrs. Ann Meraw, 36-year-old brunette, left here at 12:09 p.m. (PDT) while about 4,000 people looked on.

Entering the water with the short, slim mother were Bill Sado of Whitestone, N.Y., and John Jaromey of Toronto, who will pace her through the night.

Canada had hitched her defence wagon to a United States "thermonuclear star" and had left herself without any other military means of practical use.

Despite "billions of dollars being spent on a strategic air force system, we remain wide open to total catastrophe if the deterrent fails to deter," he said.

TOPS IN TEENS

8 Years Out From Denmark . . . Beats Language Handicap

Hanne Jensen spent three weeks in Grade 1, a month in Grade 2 and three days in Grade 8. She passed eight grades here in three years, which is exactly how long it took the young Danish teenager, now in college, to become proficient in English.

Hanne arrived from Denmark with her family in 1948. She spoke Danish and French fluently, and English not at all. Yet she learned quickly enough to enter Grade 9 at Victoria High School with her own age group.

Hanne

A sophomore at Victoria College, Hanne is spending her summer months training as a fighter control operator with the RCAF.

RTTP—Reserve Tradesman Training Plan—is a "preview" course offered by the air force to men and women, age 18 and over. They drill and attend lectures for two months, earning $161 a month, and if the life agrees with them may join the air force at the end of the training period.

AW2 Jensen, air woman second class—comparable to a private in the army and "lowest of the low," she says—will not forge a career in the RCAF. The training was "very interesting" but she intends to continue university, majoring in French, then become a professor.

To English, Danish and French, Hanne has added four years high school Spanish and a year of college German. At the end of her freshman year here, she won the Quito Nichols scholarship for top marks in French.

Hanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Jensen, 3791 Saanich Road.

... SWIM

the 10th of a second the time of the swim.

While the multitude of details was being wrapped up today by swim officials, the scene at the Old Charming Inn, Marilyn's swim camp, was one of quiet preparation.

Marilyn went for only a short swim this morning and returned to her hotel to rest this afternoon. She was anxious to do some shopping for a warm coat for her father, who will arrive Thursday night with Mrs. Bell to accompany their famous daughter on her big test.

Marilyn admitted to being nervous and a little tense but said, "The swim occupies all my thoughts and that is a good sign."

Coach Gus Ryder, who helped Marilyn prepare her food and feeding equipment, to be carried on the coaching boat, was reticent to talk about the swim today.

He said, "This is the biggest one yet. I guess it's got us all a little jumpy."

German Girl Tells Story Of Mass Rape

WUERZBURG, Germany (AP)—A 15-year-old German schoolgirl, testifying in tears that she was a victim of mass rape a month ago, today identified two American soldiers as participants.

The men, Pte. James Gordon, 23, and Pte. Fred R. Chandler, 21, are among seven Negro soldiers on trial in the case.

Blonde Erika Loos' voice quivered at times and tears streamed down her face as she appeared as a prosecution witness before a general court martial.

The girl said she was raped five times in a period of about 15 minutes while her German boy friend was restrained.

The seven soldiers are charged with raping her last July 9 in a woods near Bamberg, where they are stationed. The incident set off a wave of German protests against American soldiers.

Mr. Speaker's Estimates May Cause Delay

House Otherwise Rises at Weekend

Times' Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—On its way to establishing the record as the longest session of parliament in Canada's history the present session raced through the controversial advertising tax legislation Tuesday thereby clearing the way for possible prorogation Saturday.

A sure sign that the session is drawing to a close is the token resistance now being put up by the official opposition to items that earlier in the session would have produced week-long debates.

All members are now convinced that they will be free to go home by the weekend. By Saturday they will have been in session for 150 sitting days. Previously the second longest session in Canadian history was in 1907-08 when the House sat for 148 days. The 1955 session lasted 140 sitting days.

The speed-up towards prorogation is now apparent on all sides in the Parliament Building. Members are packing their files into the wooden boxes they use to cart them back to their home constituencies.

Only possibility that might delay prorogation until next week is the discussion on Mr. Speaker Rene Beaudin's estimates. If Mr. Speaker should insist on reviving the issue of his rulings during the pipeline debate, it could trigger a full-scale debate that would last several days. It is expected members of the government will urge upon him the need for restraint in the interests of prorogation.

Acid Burns Eyes Of Man Trapped In Wrecked Car

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Russell Hill, 34, suffered severe burns of both eyes Tuesday when acid from a jeep battery dripped on his face after he was pinned under the overturned vehicle. Some nearby workmen pulled him from under the jeep after he had been pinned for about five minutes. He also suffered second degree burns of the neck, chin and chest.

Political Sabotage Charged In Blast; Death Toll at 700

CALI, Columbia (AP)—The death count climbed today toward 1,000 from an explosion of seven dynamite-laden trucks that ripped through the heart of this South American city.

Latest unofficial estimates put the total dead at about 700. But many others among the hundreds of injured were not expected to live, and rescue workers digging through the shattered blast area continued to uncover additional victims.

President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla blamed political sabotage for the Tuesday morning explosion which virtually leveled an eight-block area and was felt for 20 miles. He promised that the guilty parties would be found.

The seven trucks had been parked for the night in a densely-populated area of slums, warehouses, hotels, stores and factories in the

(Getting Ready for Winter Edition.)

You may think August is too early to get your garden ready for winter.

As a matter of fact, I have always thought so, too. I have long clung to the belief the time to get your garden ready for winter was when winter comes, and after all, when winter comes, can spring be far behind and then it is time for the Spring edition of Our Very Own Gardening Guide.

But recent research has convinced me now is the time to get your garden ready for winter.

This research came to a head yesterday when I perused the "Home Garden" column written by our Very Own expert on gardening, none other than Jack Beasall.

The authoritative Mr. Beasall wrote: "The well tended gardens suffered more damage when the cold weather came last November than gardens which had been comparatively neglected."

It is obvious, from the tenor of Mr. Beasall's authoritative statements, it is never too soon to start neglecting your garden.

After all, you would not wish your garden to suffer this winter through a lack of early neglect, would you?

A neglect in time will save nine, I always say.

Therefore, my advice to you is, start neglecting your garden now.

Don't delay. Neglect your garden today.

It is wise to take this neglecting operation in easy stages.

You might well start out by neglecting to cut the grass.

Then you could progress a step further, by neglecting to loosen the soil around the rocks in the rock garden.

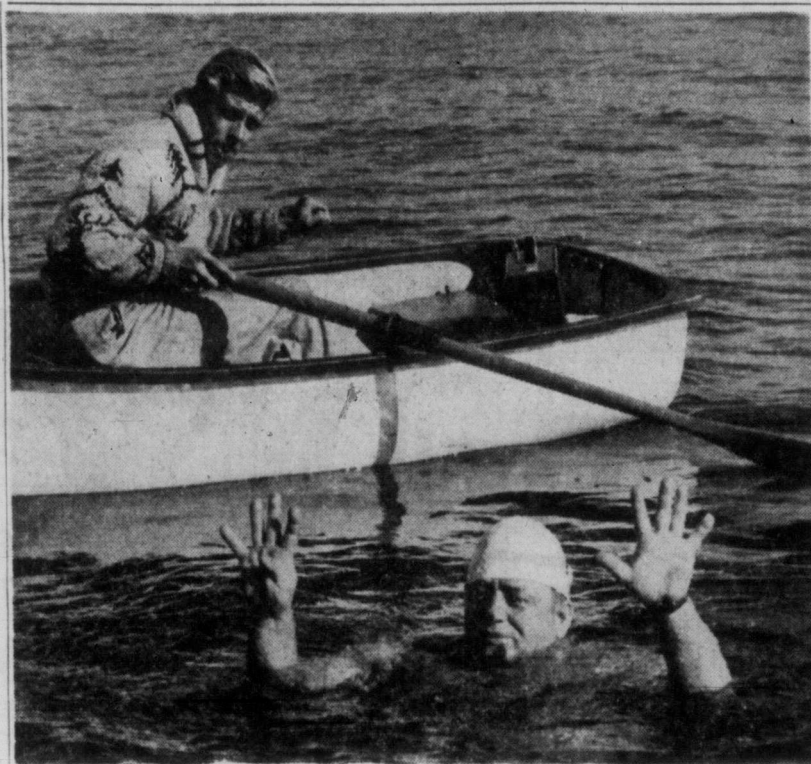

You wouldn't want the rocks in the rock garden to wither away and die during the winter because you had neglected to neglect loosening the soil around them, would you?

Having steeled yourself to neglecting to cut the grass and neglecting the rocks in the rock garden, it should be a simple step to neglect everything in the garden.

Thus you can be assured your neglected garden will suffer less damage, come cold weather, than the well tended gardens.

I realize it takes a great deal of self control to neglect a garden thoroughly.

After all, I, too, am a garden lover. But, through a supreme effort, I have managed to neglect mine with excellent results for nigh unto 40 years.

Ninth Strait Swim Attempt By Big Ben Laughren Fails

By TONY DICKASON

Ninth attempt by valiant Ben Laughren ended today after seven hours and 22 minutes battling the waters of "heartbreak strait."

The Victoria chef hit an unpredictable dead spot six miles out from the breakwater, where he had plunged in at 3.30 a.m. today.

Progress stopped. He came out at 10.52 a.m.

"It's tough," said trainer Ove Witt, "but we'll never give up."

"I've been fishing out here for years and have never seen anything like it," said navigator Stan Page. "Why, you can't see a ripple."

He said "I'm beginning to wonder if this swim is ever going to be made from Victoria."

J. H. Rogers, Ex-Detective, Dies in City

John H. Rogers, 69, a member of the Victoria police force for 35 years before he retired with the rank of detective-inspector in 1947, died here Tuesday.

Mr. Rogers played a central role in investigation of Victoria's most noted crimes, including the Lionel Lorenz murder in 1923, which he helped solve.

Funeral service will be held at Sands Mortuary Saturday at 1.30 p.m. Interment will be in Toronto.

He is survived by his widow, May, at home, 1059 Penrose Place.

Inspector Rogers was born at Penzance, Cornwall, joining the city police department in 1912.

He was promoted to detective in 1920, and became detective-inspector in 1937. During his long career with the force he served under chiefs John M. Langley, John Fry, Thomas Heatley and John A. McEellan.

He served overseas in the First World War in the medical corps and the Military Police Corps for four years, and was discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Inspector Rogers was one of the organizers of the Victoria City Police Revolver Club.

With Deputy Chief Harry J. O'Leary he was instrumental in uncovering $2,000,000 in counterfeit $10 and $20 bills at Calgary in 1926, and the arrest of the criminals at Victoria.

Matheson Lake To Be B.C. Park

Area of About 358 Acres Taken Near Rocky Point

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston announced today that the government has acquired an area of about 358 acres of "high recreational potential" located at Matheson lake near Rocky point, only 19 miles from the heart of Victoria.

"We believe that this area will provide an ideal camping area together with a good picnic site for day use," Mr. Williston said. "It is within one hour's drive of Victoria and enjoys the same climate."

He said development is expected during the summer of 1957 making the park available for use during 1958.

BY CNR TRACKS

Matheson Lake is on the west slope of the divide between Pedder Bay and Sooke harbor at the foot of Mount Matheson. It is reached by following the Sooke road to Glen Lake, turning left at that point down the Rocky Point road.

The lake is alongside the Canadian National Railway tracks at about the fourth crossing on Rocky Point road.

"It is typical of the many smaller lakes of southern Vancouver Island being about three-quarters of a mile long and a quarter-mile wide at its broadest point," Mr. Williston said.

The regular contour is broken on its southern side by a long curved rock point with a small island near its eastern end. Five small creeks drain into Matheson Lake, which has one main outlet. An old dam, now cut through, once raised its level by three or four feet.

MANY FACILITIES

"We feel Matheson Lake is best suited for use by campers and picnickers," the minister said. "But many other forms of recreation are possible in its development, including hiking, fishing, swimming and other forms of water sport."

The question of taking over the Matheson Lake area has been under consideration by the lands and forests department for some time.

"We have taken this step after very careful consideration of the needs of our provincial parks system," Mr. Williston told The Times.

A few years ago efforts were made to establish a park area in the Sooke district around Grassy Lake. The project appeared ideal as a recreation area close to Victoria but was abandoned when difficulties arose over access.

The Matheson Lake plan offers similar amenities and gives the lower island region another picnic and camping site so urgently desired by outdoor recreation interests here.

Former Mayor To Seek City Sacred Seat

CLAUDE HARRISON

Former mayor Claude Harrison announced today he will let his name stand for nomination at the forthcoming convention of the Social Credit Victoria Constituency Association.

The statement reversed an earlier intimation that the former mayor would seek nomination in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding.

APPOINTED to the newly-created post of naval comptroller at headquarters in Ottawa is former Victoria officer, Commodore Rupert A. Wright, 50. The new post is aimed at ensuring effective use of manpower, material, and financial resources. He will also serve as a member of the naval board.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Could you give me the address of the Civil Defence Headquarters in Canada and the name of the government department under which it functions?

Mrs. S.S.

A.—Both parts of the question can be given a single answer. Letters to Civil Defence Headquarters should be addressed to the Civil Defence Co-ordinator, Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa.

Q.—Is there a publication in Canada devoted to hobbies?

D.M.

A.—Yes, The Canadian Hobbycraft Magazine. It is published by the McLaughlin Publishing Co., Box 1113, London, Ont.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

'Gobs' of Goodwill Generated By Sailors in Four-Day Visit

Seven units of the United States Navy, led by the heavy cruiser USS Bremerton, left Victoria today after a four-day visit which generated a large amount of goodwill between visitors and Victoria citizens.

More than 2,000 officers and men enjoyed generous shore liberty without a single "crime" being recorded on the ships' discipline sheets. And city police reported complete absence of trouble with the liberty parties.

Official praise for the "warm" and "friendly" hospitality extended by the citizens of Victoria was expressed by Rear Admiral H. L. Collins, commander, cruiser division one.

"From the commanding officers of the ships under my command," he stated, "I have received nothing but glowing reports of the many kindnesses which have been extended to them, their officers and men."

The visiting squadron was composed of the heavy cruiser USS Bremerton, the destroyer USS Bausell, USS Rogers, USS Richard B. Anderson, USS Agerholm and the radar picket vessel USS Lowe and USS Wilhoite. They arrived here today, Saturday morning and departed this morning for Seattle. Visitors' days, which were held by the Bremerton on Sunday and the Richard B. Anderson and Agerholm on Monday and Tuesday, attracted many thousands of visitors.

A United States Navy signal from the cruiser Bremerton cleared through HMC Dockyard this morning and in due time was delivered to Mayor Percy Scourrah at City Hall. It expressed the personal thanks of Rear Admiral H. R. Collins, USN, for the "hospitable manner" Victorians received the officers and men of the seven U.S. ships which terminated their four-day visit here today.

"The many courtesies made our visit one long remembrance," said the Admiral. He included his personal regards to the Mayor who lunched with him aboard ship Tuesday.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Theft of two cameras valued at $200 from two U.S. sailors visiting the city was reported to police today.

The cameras were stolen from the car of Mrs. E. Williams, 3181 Carman, who had driven the sailors about the city and took them to the Royal Theatre.

The sailors were identified as R. F. Gray and Burton K. Harris, both from the Agerholm, which sailed today after a four-day visit.

Victoria Aged Pensioners No. 3 will be guests at baseball games at Royal Athletic Park Thursday at 7.30 p.m. when the Colored Giants play Farmer Construction, and on Monday when Vancouver Mounties play Portland at 7.30 p.m.

Next Tuesday they will be the guests of Gibson's Bowladrome at 10 a.m.

A nine-year-old boy was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday night after a fall in the showers at Crystal Garden.

Robert Bartram, 1170 Esquimalt, suffered a cut forehead and was released after treatment.

Victoria Welsh Society will hold their annual basket picnic in Port Angeles Saturday. Members will meet at the Black Ball Lines building at 1 p.m. Those going are asked to notify the secretary.

Donald W. Bleaney, 832 Devonshire, was given a one-year suspended sentence in Saanich court Tuesday for obtaining money by means of a worthless $35 cheque.

He was also placed on a $300 good behavior bond.

Victoria Cadet On B.C. Team to Ottawa Shoot-Off

Sharpshooting army cadet L. Bdr. Eddie Walker, 14, 3403 Browning, is on his way to Ottawa's Connaught Range to take part in Dominion of Canada Rifle Association annual competition.

He won his way to a place on the 10-man B.C. team by taking B.C. Interior Rifle Association grand aggregate cup and Legion trophy in shooting last month.

Tied with a girl competitor, Walker shot 13 consecutive bulls, bettering his opponent by one bullseye to take top honors.

Thanks to his skill on the range, Walker will become a rifle instructor for his unit, 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery Cadet Corps, this winter.

He is a ranking contender to represent B.C. at Bisley next year. One army cadet will be selected to go overseas.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

East-West: Elsie Edmonds and Molly Abell, Frank Annis and Bud Waddington, Maude McKieking and Roberta Watson, Laura Tingley and Isobel Kelly.

Saanich firemen lost Tuesday night in a race to save a burning roaster.

The call was to the home of Gordon Christian, 725 Cowper, where his daughter, alone in the house, raced to a neighbor to say the oven had exploded.

The roaster was carried by a fireman into the driveway to be extinguished. It was inedible.

Mayor Percy Scourrah was asked by city council Tuesday to investigate possibility of federal waiving of 10 per cent sales tax on material for the Point Ellice Bridge.

He told council he had already investigated possibility of receiving a similar dispensation from the provincial government but had been told by Premier Bennett the exemption was impossible.

Annual Playpark Boxing Contests Featured Friday

Annual playground boxing card will be a feature of city playground sports day at Central Park Friday afternoon.

Sports day, commencing at 1.30 p.m. will wind up playground activities for the summer. Events will include flat races, potato races, still races, skipping competition and wheelbarrow races.

Fifteen bouts have been arranged to decide the playground boxing champion. Prizes will be awarded later in the afternoon.

All other parks will be closed Friday to allow children to attend, mander, cruiser division one.

TUNA MOUSSE, tomato wedges and thin slices of cucumber keep guests cool inside in hot summer weather.

Get in Summer Swim Serve Tuna in Salads

In Palm Springs, California, the temperature averages about 91 degrees in mid-summer. But John Leonhardt, chef of the tennis club there, knows how to turn his guests' thoughts from the heat.

He's whipped up a refreshing recipe for Tennis Club Tuna Mousse. Here it's adapted to family size for your own hot weather meals.

TUNA MOUSSE

One tablespoon unflavored gelatin, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 2 6 1/2-ounce cans chunk-style tuna, drained; 1 cup diced celery, 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, 1 3-ounce package cream cheese, crumbled; 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Combine remaining ingredients and mix well. Add gelatin mixture and mix well. Turn into 8-inch ring mold. Chill until firm.

Unmold and garnish with crisp salad greens, if desired. (6-8 servings)

TUNA SALAD LOAF

Two 6 1/2-ounce cans chunk-style tuna, drained; 3 cups thinly sliced celery, 2 canned pimientos, cut in strips; 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 3 tablespoons grated onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups fine dry bread crumbs, 2 cups grated processed American cheese (about 1/2 pound).

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Turn into lightly greased 9x5x3-inch baking pan.

Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Chill thoroughly. Turn out on serving platter. Serve with vegetable salad, as desired. (6-8 servings).

For Save the Children Fund

Parents are invited to bring their children, small or large, to the Children's Garden Library, 1170 Tattersall drive, on Friday morning at 10:30 a.m. and on Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. for a puppet show to be given by Mrs. Elsie MacDougall, of Vancouver and eastern Canada.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, director of the Children's Garden Library, is emphatic when she says, "This is no ordinary treat. Mrs. MacDougall's puppets are not ordinary puppets and Mrs. MacDougall is no ordinary puppeteer."

"Victoria has been fortunate indeed to have Mrs. MacDougall here this summer, and it is hoped she will remain in the city and continue to give of herself and her talent to many worthwhile causes."

Children and parents alike are asked to bring a contribution to the puppet shows for the Save the Children's Fund which Mrs. McGill represents in this city.

Family Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Petty, 631 Oliver Street, had as their guests recently their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Petty, and sons Ross and Wallace, of Paynton, Sask.

Party Planned For Rectory Fund

A garden party will be held in the grounds of the Church of Our Lord on Saturday in aid of the rectory fund. There will be stalls of aprons and fancy-work, home cooking and candy, oddments and flowers. Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Brown will welcome both old and new friends of the church. Tea will be served from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Hitler Ex-Aides Charged With Murder

MUNICH (Reuters)—The former commander of Hitler's bodyguard, Sepp Dietrich, and former Nazi concentration camp chief Michael Lippert, have been charged with aiding and abetting the murder of Ernst Roehm and six other leading Nazi Brownshirts in 1934, it was announced today.

The Bavarian justice ministry said the state prosecutor had filed charges after conducting an investigation since 1949 during which 800 witnesses were heard.

Accountant Fined $2,000 in Tax Fraud

WINNIPEG (CP)—A Portage La Prairie public accountant, Wilfred J. Deley, was fined $2,000 today when he pleaded guilty to charges laid under the Income Tax Act.

He was charged with suppressing a total of $22,135 on his income during the four years 1951-54. Tax evasion for the four years was $6,642.

CALI, Colombia (AP)—Estimates of the dead in Cali's explosion went past the 1,000 mark today when Diario de Colombia, at Bogota, estimated the dead at 1,200 and La Republica of the same city said the toll might reach 1,800.

Vancouver Okay On Sunday Sport Faces Law Test

(CP DISPATCHES)

VANCOUVER—An official of the Lord's Day Alliance said today he will recommend prosecution of any person who promotes commercial Sunday sport in Vancouver.

The statement by Rev. Harold Clugston followed a surprise decision by Vancouver city council Tuesday to legalize commercial Sunday afternoon sport.

Legality of the action, approved in a plebiscite by Vancouver voters last year, was questioned by city corporation counsel Russel Baker and Mayor Fred Hume.

BALL GAME SET

The Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, who sought approval for Sunday afternoon games when they joined the PCL this year, immediately scheduled a game for Sunday, Aug. 26.

"I would approve prosecution," said Rev. Clugston, an executive member of the Alliance's Vancouver auxiliary.

He said the Vancouver group would consult the national executive of the Alliance in Toronto on what steps to take.

Provincial government officials were non-committal today.

"If a commercial Sunday event takes place, I presume it will come before the city prosecutor and be dealt with in the ordinary manner," said Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

Legal authorities in Victoria said the usual procedure is for a citizen or group to make a

Marilyn's Diary

Stella Folks!

The days of this week are creeping along on lead-soled boots, the slow, teasing way they always do before a swim.

It seems only a few days ago that we arrived here to start training, but now, with swim day finally a fact instead of a plan, I'm sure this week will be a month long.

It is just like when I was a little girl, the week before Christmas was always unbearably long, just from anticipation.

Mom and Dad will arrive here Thursday night to help root me across but, unfortunately, I won't be able to meet them.

They will be arriving late Thursday night and I will be tucked away for the night, dreaming about Ediz Hook. However, I will see them in the early hours of Friday morning and they will be on one of the boats following the swim.

Mom and Dad have never missed one of my big swims, no matter how far they have had to travel. I wouldn't want to swim without them.

Immigration From India To Increase

Persistent pleas for equal immigration rights for East Indians has paid off for the East Indian Canadian Citizens' Welfare Association.

The government said today it plans to allow into Canada more immigrants from India. The statement was made by Immigration Minister Jack Pickersgill in the Commons.

Kuldeep Singh Bains, Victoria, secretary of the welfare organization, led a drive through B.C. members of parliament and the cabinet to gain a greater degree of recognition.

The minister did not say by how much the government intends to increase the present quota of 150 persons a year, but the matter would be discussed immediately with the Indian government.

There are some 2,000 Indians of the Sikh religion in Canada, mostly in B.C.

Rebels Routed

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Loyal Ecuadorian troops have recaptured the rebel stronghold of Portoviejo without opposition, the government announced today.

MARILYN'S SIGHTS ON TARGET

SWIM OFFICIALS NAMED

Weather Outlook For Friday Good

By DENNY BOYD

Warm weather and northerly winds, a nearly perfect swimming combination, was the unofficial forecast today for Marilyn Bell's Juan de Fuca Strait swim Friday.

Weatherman Bill Mackie told the Times today, "We cannot make an accurate forecast more than 36 hours in advance. However, the forecast for Thursday is for northerly winds up to 15 miles an hour and for temperatures up to 75. The outlook for Friday is for a continuation of the same conditions."

If those conditions do hold over until Friday, it will be a tremendous boost for Marilyn in her attempt to become the first person in history to swim from Victoria to Port Angeles.

WIND AT BACK

It would put the brisk wind at Marilyn's back and would act as a "pusher" rather than a deterrent. The westerly winds that usually prevail over the Strait at this time of year have been the cause of failure in most of the recent swims.

Last-minute plans for the swim continued today with the swim officials being named.

Harold Elworthy, Island Tug and Barge Co. president, will be the official starter for the swim and will fire a gun from the beach at Horseshoe Bay to signal the start of the swim.

Marilyn will travel in the Island Champion to a point out 5 side Horseshoe Bay and will be brought in to the beach in a small boat.

Aboard the Sudbury, largest deep-sea tug on the coast, will be official observers Bruce Humber and Hector Crombie, secretary-manager of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and timers Viv Shoemaker and Ian Ross.

Mr. Shoemaker is secretary of the Victoria YMCA, while Mr. Ross is the owner of Butchart Gardens.

The observers will watch the swim to see that it is conducted under the rules of long-distance swimming while the timers will have stop-watches to record to

British PM Speaks To Nation on Crisis

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden said tonight international control of the Suez canal is a matter of "life and death to us all."

(Eden's speech will be broadcast tonight over radio stations CBU at 7.15 and CJVI at 7.45.)

Eden went to Buckingham Palace to see the Queen and then appeared in a radio and television broadcast.

The prime minister said half the oil output of the Middle East passes through the 103-mile waterway and without it Britain, Western Europe and the Scandinavian countries "could not survive." Nobody should be surprised that Egypt's seizure of the canal had created "a very grave situation."

"The whole trend of the world today is against taking selfish action for purely national ends," he said.

Meanwhile, Britain today said she intends to settle the Suez dispute peacefully.

A foreign office statement also declared that the Arab-Israeli dispute had no part in the Suez issue.

A spokesman said the statement represented "no change" in British policy.

He said the 24-power London conference on the Suez, Aug. 16, would in no way prejudice a final settlement of the quarrel between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

This appears to be an assurance to the Arab states.

INDIA TO ATTEND

The foreign office announcement followed by several hours, India's acceptance of an invitation to the London conference and authoritative Indian reports that Egypt would boycott the talks.

Britain has steadily asserted that she will go ahead with the talks, aimed at setting up international control of the vital waterway, even though Egypt stays away.

Nehru, speaking in Parliament in New Delhi, said he had agreed to attend the London talks after receiving assurances that the "sovereignty and dignity of Egypt" would not be harmed by the meeting.

In Moscow well-informed Soviet sources said today Egypt's President Nasser will "most probably" postpone his scheduled Aug. 16 visit to Russia because of the Suez Canal crisis.

Almost simultaneously Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov said that Russia's answer to the Western invitation would be given within the next 48 hours.

In Cairo, it was reported Nasser will publish his decision on Sunday whether to attend the London conference.

Canyon Open Thursday?

YALE, B.C. (CP)—The Trans-Canada highway through the Fraser Canyon, cut when a 30-year-old bridge collapsed Tuesday, may be reopened to traffic Thursday morning, says deputy highways minister Evan Jones.

270 Entombed In Burning Mine

MARCINELLE, Belgium (AP)—Rescuers this afternoon made the first breach through tons of concrete barring the way to freedom for an estimated 270 coal-miners trapped nearly half a mile below ground at the Amercoeur coal mines here.

They brought to the surface three survivors and the bodies of three victims.

It was not immediately known how many more of the men could be quickly reached. They were reported trapped on different levels of the Casier du Bois pit, cut off by flames and choking fumes let loose earlier today when the mine's electrical system was short-circuited by a runaway coal wagon.

The breach was made after rescuers climbed down a pit shaft still under construction and blasted through six feet of concrete into one of the working shafts.

WATCH HELPLESSLY

At the pithead, word of the rescuers' advance brought hope to a tensely waiting crowd of weep-

'Gentlemen Don't Shoot at Lady' Admiral Signals HMCS Ontario

Beauty before duty will be the order of the day for the Royal Canadian Navy Friday.

A long-planned practice "shoot" with live ammunition by the heavy armament of the cruiser Ontario, homeward bound after a naval cadet training cruise, will be cancelled to protect the Marilyn Bell swim.

Today Rear Admiral Hugh F. Fullen, flag officer, Pacific Coast, sent this signal to HMCS Ontario.

"There is a strong possibility that Miss Marilyn Bell will compete with you for honors in your firing area on Friday the 10th of August.

"She will be proceeding at a ladylike pace and wind and water may keep her foul of the range for some time.

"Remember in this case that beauty comes before age and it is ungentlemanly to shoot at a lady. Therefore, exercise great care and cancel your shoot if your ETA will be affected."

The navy customarily schedules surface firing practice at the end of a training cruise, when the ships reach a recognized firing area where towed targets can be supplied.

8 Years Out From Denmark . . . Beats Language Handicap

Hanne Jensen spent three weeks in Grade 1, a month in Grade 2 and three days in Grade 8. She passed eight grades here in three years, which is exactly how long it took the young Danish teenager, now in college, to become proficient in English.

Hanne arrived from Denmark with her family in 1948. She spoke Danish and French fluently, and English not at all. Yet she learned quickly enough to enter Grade 9 at Victoria High School with her own age group.

Hanne

"very interesting" but she intends to continue university, majoring in French, then become a professor.

To English, Danish and French, Hanne has added four years high school Spanish and a year of college German. At the end of her freshman year here, she won the Quito Nichols scholarship for top marks in French.

Hanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Jensen, 3791 Saanich Road.

German Girl Tells Story Of Mass Rape

While the multitude of details was being wrapped up today by swim officials, the scene at the Old Charming Inn, Marilyn's swim camp, was one of quiet preparation.

Marilyn went for only a short swim this morning and returned to her hotel to rest this afternoon. She was anxious to do some shopping for a warm coat for her father, who will arrive Thursday night with Mrs. Bell to accompany their famous daughter on her big test.

Marilyn admitted to being nervous and a little tense but said, "The swim occupies all my thoughts and that is a good sign."

Coach Gus Ryder, who helped Marilyn prepare her food and feeding equipment, to be carried on the coaching boat, was reluctant to talk about the swim today.

He said, "This is the biggest one yet. I guess it's got us all a little jumpy."

WUERZBURG, Germany (AP)—A 15-year-old German schoolgirl, testifying in tears that she was a victim of mass rape a month ago, today identified two American soldiers as participants.

The men, Pte. James Gordon, 23, and Pte. Fred R. Chandler, 21, are among seven Negro soldiers on trial in the case.

Blonde Erika Loos' voice quivered at times and tears streamed down her face as she appeared as a prosecution witness before a general court martial.

The girl said she was raped five times in a period of about 15 minutes while her German boy friend was restrained.

The seven soldiers are charged with raping her last July 9 in a woods near Bamberg, where they are stationed. The incident set off a wave of German protests against American soldiers.

Mr. Speaker's Estimates May Cause Delay

House Otherwise Rises at Weekend

Times' Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—On its way to establishing the record as the longest session of parliament in Canada's history, the present session raced through the controversial advertising tax legislation Tuesday thereby clearing the way for possible prorogation Saturday.

A sure sign that the session is drawing to a close is the token resistance now being put up by the official opposition to items that earlier in the session would have produced week-long debates.

All members are now convinced that they will be free to go home by the weekend. By Saturday they will have been in session for 150 sitting days. Previously the second longest session in Canadian history was in 1907-08 when the House sat for 145 days. The 1955 session lasted 140 sitting days.

The speed-up towards prorogation is now apparent on all sides in the Parliament Building. Members are packing their files into the wooden boxes they use to cart them back to their home constituencies.

Only possibility that might delay prorogation until next week is the discussion on Mr. Speaker Rene Beaudin's estimates. If Mr. Speaker should insist on reviving the issue of his rulings during the pipeline debate, it could trigger a full-scale debate that would last several days. It is expected members of the government will urge upon him the need for restraint in the interests of prorogation.

Acid Burns Eyes Of Man Trapped In Wrecked Car

BLAIRSTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Russell Hill, 34, suffered severe burns of both eyes Tuesday when acid from a jeep battery dripped on his face after he was pinned under the overturned vehicle. Some nearby workmen pulled him from under the jeep after he had been pinned for about five minutes. He also suffered second-degree burns of the neck, chin and chest.

Political Sabotage Charged In Blast; Death Toll at 700

CALI, Columbia (AP)—The death count climbed today toward 1,000 from an explosion of seven dynamite-laden trucks that ripped through the heart of this South American city.

Latest unofficial estimates put the total dead at about 700. But many others among the hundreds of injured were not expected to live, and rescue workers digging through the shattered blast area continued to uncover additional victims.

President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla blamed political sabotage for the Tuesday morning explosion which virtually leveled an eight-block area and was felt for 20 miles. He promised that the guilty parties would be found.

The seven trucks had been parked for the night in a densely-populated area of slums, warehouses, hotels, stores and factories in the centre of this city of about 285,000 persons. They were part of a 10-vehicle convoy which had left the port of Buenaventura Monday with explosives to be delivered to the public works ministry in Bogota, the capital. The drivers were sleeping in the cabs of the trucks.

Buildings as far as 12 blocks from the blast centre were damaged extensively by the blast.

Large-scale relief operations were in full swing today.

Earth-moving machinery worked around the clock, shifting huge piles of debris in a search for additional bodies.

Burial of the victims, hampered by an acute shortage of coffins, was an urgent task in this tropical climate. Military authorities announced plans to bury unidentified dead in a common grave.

THIRD VICTORIA CUB PACK: On Tuesday evening 20 members of the pack went to Akela Winnie Bennett's home at Ardmore Drive, Sidney, for a wienie feed.

After "Grand Howl," a wool trail for a treasure was held, during which several cups, tangled with a wasp nest. We think the wasps were the winners.

Oak Island's 'Treasure' Still Secret

HALIFAX (CP) — Story of Oak Island, N.S., where according to legend Captain Kidd's treasure is buried, is still a sure lure for writers and publicity people.

Friends magazine, published in Detroit, has spun the latest yarn about the little treasure island near Chester on Nova Scotia's south shore.

Entitled Captain Kidd's Treasure, the article shows photographs of diggings on the island.

Just enough "treasure"—bits of gold, parchment and other objects—have been unearthed to keep the 150-year-old legend alive.

Whether or not a valuable hoard is secreted in a mysterious sunken well on the island, fortune and story-hunters continue their quest there.

Wales Again Bardless—5th Time Since 1939

ABERDARE, Wales (Reuters) — Wales will have to do without a bard this year. For the fifth time since 1939, organizers of the Welsh National Festival of song and drama announced that nobody had written anything good enough to win the silver crown which signifies the "Bard of Wales."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Jess Bachelder, aged 11, of Arkansas City, Kansas, for his question:

How Do You Measure the Depth of the Ocean?

Sailors have always been fascinated by the depth of the ocean below them. Columbus men thought they were sailing over a boundless ocean. No doubt they looked over the edge of their frail ships with fear and horror. What terrible monsters lurked in the bottomless water? How deep was the shadowy ocean?

Magellan was sure there was bottom to the ocean and curious to know how deep it was. On the first voyage around the world, this intelligent skipper found time to test the depth of the water below his ship. He took a sounding in the Pacific. A weighted line was dropped until it touched the ocean floor.

Then the line was hauled up and measured. Magellan's ship was found to be over 200 fathoms deep. The bold skipper announced that he was over the deepest part of the Pacific. We know now of a spot in the Pacific six and a half miles deep. We also know the average depth of all the oceans is between 2½ and 2¾ miles. But there was no one to out-measure Magellan's 200 fathoms, 1,200 feet, for a long, long time to come.

Sounding, which means finding the depth of water, comes from an older word for swimming. The simple way was to let a weighted line plummet to the ocean floor and measure the distance in fathoms of six feet. Until around 1925, that was the only way known to measure the depth of the sea. In 1839, James Ross took the first deep ocean sounding on his way to the Antarctic. He let down a hemp line in the South Atlantic and measured a depth of 2,425 fathoms—430 feet short of three miles.

Later, other sea sounders used cable and piano wire. Only 15,000 soundings had been taken of the whole oceans when the plummet method became out-moded.

Then a new kind of sounding was used to measure the depth of the ocean. It was done with echoes. The idea was so simple that several gadgeteers invented to use it. Today, every big ship carries its sounding device. Even little fishing boats carry such instruments. Not only do they echo back the picture of the ocean floor with its hidden reefs and shoals, they even echo back the fish down in the water.

Sound waves are beamed straight downward from the ship. They pass freely through the water, but bounce back in echoes from solid objects. Equipment aboveboard keeps a constant record of the echoes, building them into a picture. When schools of fish get in between, the echoes bounce back twice.

This sonar equipment is being used to build up a map of the ocean floor—the job of charting all the undersea hills, canyons, mountains and cliffs. When it is well have a relief map of the entire deep, dark ocean floor.

Andy sends a Hammond Ambassador World Atlas to David Yam, age 12, of San Mateo, Calif., for his question:

Who started the Boy Scouts?

England was fighting the Boers in the rough terrain of South Africa. Colonel Baden-Powell saw that his young city-bred soldiers from England were at a loss in the tough country. So he trained them on scouting parties. After the war, he used his scouting tips to train boys at home. They loved it. The first Boy Scout camp started in 1907. Richard Baden-Powell was one of its scoutmasters.

Scouting, of course, is as old as the hills. America had its Sons of Daniel Boone and Ernest Seaton's Tribe of Woodcraft Indians—all good scouts. Baden-Powell borrowed much from these hardy groups.

The Boy Scout organization crossed the Atlantic in 1910. Today, well over four million sensible fellows belong to the Boy Scout world-wide organization. With all that fun to be had, can you blame them?

RANGER SCOUT

NEW YORK (CP) — Johnny Gagnon, "the Black Cat of Chicoutimi," was hired Monday to stalk talent for the National Hockey League New York Rangers.

Announcement that Gagnon, 51, has joined the Ranger scouting force was made by general manager Muzz Patrick, who said he knows of no other scout as familiar with Quebec and Ontario hockey hotbeds.
